Nixon Moscow Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin flew secretly to President Nixon's Camp David, Md., retreat for an overnight visit and conference Thursday with the chief executive on his approaching Moscow summit talks.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that Dobrynin and presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger flew by helicopter to the mountain-top compound about midnight Wednesday. Nixon and Dobrynin met for about an hour Thursday, Ziegler said.

He refused to give specifics on what was discussed, saying only that the purpose "was to talk about the meetings in the Soviet Union" before Dobrynin flew to Moscow Thursday.

Nixon will return to the White House Friday and meet with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who is returning from a trip to Thailand, Japan and South Vietnam, Ziegler said.

Nixon scheduled a Friday afternoon meeting with bipartisan congressional leaders to discuss his trip.

With Nixon's departure less than two days away, indication mounted that the talks could produce breakthrough agreements on trade and economic issues.

Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson concluded with a Soviet delegation Thursday a week of trade talks which he said "contributed significantly to the possibility of normalizing and expanding the economic relationship between the two countries."

The head of the Soviet delegation, Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev, said in a statement that "the negotiations ... proved to be helpful and demonstrated willingness of both the parties to work toward improving commercial relationships between them on mutually beneficial and broad bases."

Primary Campaign

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern opened their crucial California primary campaign Thursday with Humphrey challenging McGovern to a series of televised debates. McGovern immediately accepted.

"I readily accept and look forward with eagerness to this opportunity to discuss the central issues of interest before the people of California with my opponent Sen. Humphrey," McGovern said just before flying from Los Angeles to Portland, Ore.

McGovern was in Los Angeles to receive the endorsement of the widow of Martin Luther King. Humphrey was at his California headquarters a few miles away.

The formal debate proposal had not yet reached the McGovern staff office in Los Angeles, but McGovern accepted after being told of it.

Both candidates had suspended campaigning after the shooting of Alabama Gov. George Wallace. They flew into Los Angeles in the morning to launch their bid for California's 271 Democratic convention votes in the state's June 8 winner-take-all primary.

McGovern stayed only long enough to receive the endorsement of Coretta King, widow of the slain civil rights leader, before leaving for Oregon to campaign for that state's primary on Tuesday. He will return to California on Saturday.

Humphrey opened his California headquarters to begin a 19-day drive in what he calls the "Super Bowl" of primaries.

Humphrey told supporters he was challenging McGovern to a debate even though opinion polls showed him leading. The latest independent California Poll, conducted from April 26 to May 1, showed 36 per cent of the Democrats polled favor Humphrey, 31 per cent McGovern, 12 per cent Sen. Edmund Muskie and the rest are split.

"The new politics is the politics that is open, filled with discussions, debates and dialogue," he said.

Mrs. King's endorsement of McGovern came after Humphrey had won heavy majorities of black voters in earlier Democratic primaries. McGovern also has the support of such black leaders as Julian Bond and the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

About 25 per cent of California's 5 million Democratic voters are blacks and Mexican-Americans.

Indochina War

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi reported that large numbers of U.S. aircraft attacked North Vietnam Thursday following a buildup of American naval power in the Tonkin Gulf.

South Vietnamese forces pushed close to the besieged provincial capital of An Loc in search of their first significant victory in the enemy offensive.

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency—VNA—claimed U.S. planes deliberately raided "many populated areas" in Hanoi and the port city of Haiphong "to massacre the civilian population." Another Hanoi radio broadcast monitored in Tokyo said "large numbers of U.S. warplanes attempted to bomb" the Hanoi and the provinces of Thanh Hoa and Bac Giang and five planes were shot down.

The U.S. Command declined to comment, its usual policy. It reported earlier, however, that strikes over the North during the last two days destroyed equipment and large quantities of fuel and fuel depots.

The number of 7th Fleet carriers stationed off the Southeast Asia coast rose to six for the first time in the war with the arrival of the 78,000-ton Saratoga. She came from the Atlantic Fleet and boosted the offshore American naval force to about 46,000 aboard more than 60 ships. A seventh carrier, the Ticonderoga, sailed from San Diego, Calif., for Vietnam Wednesday.

At An Loc, southernmost of three fronts opened by the enemy during the six-week-old offensive, a government relief column moved within 2 1/2 miles of the devastated city. Advancing behind hundreds of bombs dropped by jets from the Saratoga and from U.S. B52s, the troops leaptfrogged up Highway 13 and met little resistance.

Associated Press correspondent Lynn C. Newland reported there were indications the enemy might be loosening its grip around An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, and South Vietnamese forces verging on their first important success in the offensive.

Demand $350,000 Ransom Threaten Luxury Liner

LONDON (AP) — British bomb disposal experts parachuted to the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth 2 in mid-Atlantic Thursday after a caller said explosives would be set off unless the Cunard line paid a $350,000 ransom. A search turned up no bombs, Cunard said.

A Royal navy demolition crew flown from Britain dropped alongside the 65,000-ton vessel about 500 miles northwest of the Azores and was taken aboard.

The liner left New York Monday with 1,550 passengers, including 90-year-old conductor Leopold Stokowski, and about 800 crewmen, bound for Cherbourg, France, and Southampton.

Cunard said the threat was received Wednesday at its New York office. The caller said he would phone again, but there had been no follow-up call by late Thursday night.

Cunard had said it would pay the ransom, although a spokesman expressed belief that the call was "probably a hoax."

Searchers inspected luggage as well as the ship itself, the line said.

"I never really believed that there were any bombs aboard, but we will continue to take every precaution," Richard Patton, president of Cunard Lines of North America, said in New York.

A huge air-sea operation was launched after the anonymous caller told the New York office of Cunard that six bombs had been planted around the ship's 13 decks.

Cunard said the caller claimed he had two accomplices aboard—one an ex-convict and the other a terminal cancer patient and that both were ready to die.

Cunard said it was willing to pay and was awaiting a second call with instructions on how to hand over the money.

Seek Lifting Of Pot Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Public Health Association and two other groups Thursday asked the administration to remove all federal criminal penalties for both use and sale of marijuana.

They said the same request, backed by court suits if necessary, will be made in 30 states where laws follow the federal model that allows penalties to be downgraded or removed by administrative action.

The three groups argued that present federal penalties are unjustified and illegal in light of recent government findings that marijuana appears to be harmless when smoked less than once a day.

Under the 1970 catch-all federal drug law, marijuana is classified with heroin, LSD, mescaline and other lesser-known drugs in "Schedule 1," the most dangerous group.

Possession is punishable by up to a year in jail and $5,000 fine, and sale carries penalties of up to 5 years in jail and a $15,000 fine. Judges may award lesser penalties. For second convictions the maximum penalties double.

In a petition to the Justice Department, the three groups asked the administration to remove marijuana completely from the law, or to move it to "Schedule 5" with some cough syrups and other less dangerous substances. Penalties there range up to a maximum one year in jail and $5,000 fine for illegal sale.

The bureau said it has received the petition and will look it over. President Nixon has said he opposes removing criminal penalties for marijuana use.

IRA Sparks Prison Uprising In Dublin

DUBLIN (AP) — Rioting convicts, spurred on by outlaws of the Irish Republican Army, rampaged through Dublin's Mountjoy Prison for six hours until their rebellion was crushed early Friday by a task force of more than 1,000 troops and police.

At the height of the violence, soldiers and police had to fight a rear-guard action against 3,000 pro-IRA demonstrators who massed outside the prison fortress to support the uprising inside.

The convicts gave up suddenly, soon after they announced they would tear down the prison walls if their demands for better treatment were not met.

IRA sources said security forces used tear and nausea gas in their onslaught, but the army denied this.

Damage inside the prison was estimated at tens of thousands of dollars. Outside, four civilian cars and a police patrol car were wrecked by the demonstrators.

Nine truckloads of soldiers stormed the prison after the rampaging convicts overcame 100 police.

Two police officers and a convict were reported injured.

IRA prisoners were apparently leading the riot from positions high on the jail roof. They showered security forces with sharpened tiles. A gaping hole appeared in the roof.

Other convicts below ripped bars from windows, barricaded corridors and smashed furniture and glass.

Three prisoners who clambered onto the jail roof identified themselves as members of the "Provisional" wing of the IRA. The provisionals are traditional hardline Irish nationalists.

One of the rooftop demonstrators was Richard Behal, a militant who once broke jail while serving a sentence for firing a gun at a visiting British navy vessel.

Wallace Doctors Not Optimistic

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Physical therapists were moving George C. Wallace's crippled legs every hour Thursday to retain muscle vigor in case some function is eventually restored—a faint hope.

His doctors are not optimistic that the Alabama governor will be able to keep his pledge to use a wheelchair if necessary to continue publicly the pre-convention campaign that was interrupted by attempted assassination Monday.

Mrs. Cornelia Wallace told newsmen Thursday that Wallace knew about his paralysis from the beginning but "is very optimistic about it."

She said he asked Wednesday "What about the campaign?" "I said are you ready to throw in the towel?" Mrs. Wallace said.

"He said 'no!'"

Wallace was under heavy sedation Tuesday—the day he won the Maryland and Michigan presidential primaries. But Wednesday, Mrs. Wallace said, he especially wanted newspapers.

"I told him he was leading the primaries," she recounted. "He said 'which one?'" I said both. He couldn't believe it."

Surgery to remove the bullet remaining in Wallace's body will be performed in a week or 10 days—but even with rapid recovery, Wallace won't be able to get around much for two or three months, his doctor said.

"The governor is resting well and feeling a little better today," said Dr. James Galbraith, a University of Alabama neurosurgeon who joined Wallace's medical team.

There was a slight rise in temperature and pulse rate—normal for a patient after an operation, but by Thursday afternoon both were dropping toward usual levels.

"It's problematic that he will get any return of function at all," Galbraith said. "It's unlikely that he will get anything like normal use of his legs."

But the surgeon conceded all this could change depending on how well the spinal cord area heals and Wallace might get restored function varying from "a small to a significant amount."

Galbraith said full recovery—to whatever extent—will take three months, making it unlikely he will be able to campaign in person before the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla., July 10.

Arthur Herman Bremer, the 21-year-old Milwaukeean charged with shooting the governor, was still held under $200,000 bond in the Baltimore County Jail near Towson, Md.

Officials said the contents of Bremer's car included two books on the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968, and some literature from the presidential campaigns of Wallace and Sen. George S. McGovern.

WASHINGTON—The Seabed Arms Control Treaty went into force Thursday when the U.S., Russia and England deposited their instruments of ratification at ceremonies in Washington, Moscow and London. The treaty prohibits the emplacement of nuclear weapons on the seabed beyond a 12-mile coastal "seabed zone," thus barring these weapons from nearly 70% of the earth's surface. ## House Cuts U.N. Payment Despite Plea From Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disregarding a last-minute plea by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the House approved Thursday a $13.2 million cut in the United States dues payment to the United Nations.

The reduction was made in a $4.58 billion appropriation bill financing the State Department and several other agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. The bill, approved by voice vote, now goes to the Senate.

The U.N. cut was effected by limiting the U.S. assessment to the organization to 25 per cent of the total U.N. budget instead of the current 31.5 per cent. It would pare about $29 million from the funds for U.S. membership in international multilateral organizations pursuant to treaties, conventions and acts of Congress.

It would not affect the International Civil Aviation Organization, and the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The President sought about $60.1 million for the U.N. assessment. The House Appropriations Committee held this to $46.9 million.

Just before the House acted, Secretary Rogers issued a statement saying a unilateral cut would violate an international obligation and could cause the United Nations to run out of money by October.

The United States, he added "would bear the onus" for such a development.

An attempt by Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., to restore the cut lost 202-156.

Derwinski, who was a House delegate to the U.N. General Assembly last year, said the United States would be "the biggest culprit of all" if it defaulted in its payment.

Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan also opposed the cut, saying any reduction should be made in an orderly manner through negotiations.

But Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., said complaints against U.N. fiscal operations and assessments have been made for more than 20 years but the State Department and diplomats "never did a damned thing about it."

It would be "unwholesome and unsound" for any nation to pay more than 25 per cent of the entire budget when there are more than 100 member nations, he said.

Stein Says Expansion Moderation Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced Thursday it will try "to moderate the future pace" of the accelerating business expansion to avoid reviving inflationary pressures.

The statement by economic adviser Herbert Stein came as the government revised upward its estimate of national output in the first quarter of 1972.

Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told newsmen that federal spending in fiscal 1973 must be held to President Nixon's originally budgeted level of $246.3 billion.

Government spending still will be on the upgrade, he said, but the stimulus of deficit spending should be "not too great or too long-continued." The planned budget down-hold will insure that it does not reach the "blow-off point," he said.

The policy, he said, is not to stop the economic expansion "which we want and need. It is a policy of looking ahead to moderate the future pace of the expansion so that it will yield higher real incomes and employment without speeding inflation up again."

Stein said the Commerce Department's release of revised figures on the Gross National Product confirm the picture of "a strong, broadly based recovery in progress."

Over-all output reached a rate of $110.3 trillion. This meant that the market value of all goods and services produced rose 12 per cent in annual rate instead of the 11.8 per cent announced earlier.

When discounted for inflation estimated at 6 per cent throughout the economy—slightly less than the 6.2 per cent previously estimated—the economy showed a real growth rate of 5.6 per cent. This compared with 5.3 per cent in the earlier announcement.

The increase was more than twice as high as the rate of gain between 1970 and 1971.

The consumer was given almost the whole credit for the stepped-up expansion. Consumer outlays showed a marked pickup in the first three months of the year, so that the rate of personal savings dropped to 7 per cent of disposable income.

This was a long-awaited turning point. The sluggishness of the recovery has been blamed partly on lack of consumer confidence, which was reflected in a savings rate averaging 8 per cent or more for the past two years. It moved down to 7.8 per cent in the last quarter of 1971.

The Commerce Department figures disclosed also that prices have been rising more rapidly than sales and production as is usual in an economic recovery. Before-tax profits in the first quarter rose 7.8 per cent for all nonfinancial corporations, while the total rate of the same corporations was 3.8 per cent.

The earnings gain in the quarter was $2.6 billion, or in a year. It was far above the $1.1 billion increase in first-quarter 1971. Figure was caused by a rise in the General Motors

A New Viewpoint On Employment

At a time of high unemployment, the level of absenteeism and turnover in the automotive industry is the highest in history.

"This is contrary to every economic expectation and is typical of new attitudes which will require the humanizing of work and of organizations," says Prof. Louis Davis of the University of California.

Davis has launched a major project, underwritten by a $160,000 Ford Foundation grant, to study ways of improving the quality of working life in the United States.

Examining the same evidence, a management consultant has come up with a similar diagnosis.

"Never before has the American worker been so important to the nation's economy as right now," says Roy W. Walters. "But in the present business environment, with its emphasis on productivity at all costs, we may be losing sight of our human resources."

Yet another management consultant, citing the nation's failure to create a full employment economy compatible with stable prices, suggests we need a fundamental re-evaluation of our traditional concepts of free enterprise capitalism.

Before World War I, when much of the economy was in the hands of the self-employed and small family enterprises, we enjoyed virtually full employment and stable prices, writes William McDonald Wallace in an article in the Wall Street Journal.

But as big business rose to dominate the economy, it made a tragic mistake in its approach to labor, he says. It opted for a bureaucratic social order in response to the classical economists' assumptions about "economic man."

This "economic man" is a different species from the social animal we know as man. Belongingness, esprit de corps and camaraderie are emotions and motivations unknown to him. He sells his services impersonally to the highest bidder and moves on without regret in response to a higher offer.

Equally without regret, the buyer-employer lays him off in response to changes in market demand.

To put it another way, business bureaucracy pays the job and not the man, regarding its employees as impersonal sellers of labor services who must compete with each other for "better jobs."

Consider, by contrast, the spectacularly successful Japanese economy, says Walters.

The idea of "economic man" makes no sense at all to the Japanese. Trying to make people conform to an economist's abstract model of the economy is to them a product of the inscrutable Occidental mind.

In the Japanese view, corporations depend on teamwork rather than individual effort, and since esprit de corps and camaraderie improve teamwork while satisfying deeply felt human needs, why not take advantage of this fact?

The Japanese have created a system of lifetime employment tenure. They pay the man, not the job, and pay him a flexible wage related to corporate performance.

Thus the Japanese can adjust to a business slump while maintaining stable employment. Whatever the vagaries of the business cycle, the individual employee in Japan looks forward to promotion and hence better pay until he retires.

"The famed loyalty and dedication of Japanese employees does not reflect the mysteries of their upbringing so much as the pragmatic policies of their employers," says Walters.

"Nor does the erosion of the work ethic in America reflect some mysterious greening process. Rather it reflects the poisonous effect of bureaucracy on teamwork."

A Look At Federal Secrecy

An attempt is afoot in the Senate to do something that badly requires doing. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-New York) and 12 co-sponsors have introduced a bipartisan resolution calling for appointment of a special committee to study the whole range of questions concerning secret government documents.

On its face, this seems quite unobjectionable. The whole business of secrecy in government has been much in the news over the past many months, it is a matter of great public interest; ergo, some appropriate body ought to look into this, and what more appropriate body could there be than the Senate?

Not everyone sees it that way. Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Nebraska) wants the proposal referred to the Judiciary Committee. Without questioning his motives, one can reasonably point out that this could be expected to delay the resolution for some time, and perhaps stymie it altogether.

It should not be delayed, and certainly not stymied. There is no acceptable reason why the United States Senate should not forthwith inquire into the practice of shielding a wide range of documents from the public behind a wall of official secrecy.

Whatever findings were made by a special investigating committee would not have to be taken for gospel; they would have to be measured against the doctrine of separation of powers, and against a searching appraisal of where the public interest lies. But why not have the Senate look into this and consider it on the basis of more knowledge and less supposition?

Demo Nomination Race Moves Toward Showdown

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign appears to be in deepening trouble as the race for the Democratic presidential nomination moves west towards California's crucial primary June 6.

Short on funds, the Minnesota senator has cut back in some states to put virtually all of his resources into California, where he hopes to halt the momentum of Sen. George McGovern's drive.

If he can't, the nomination may be McGovern's. Humphrey and McGovern meet in a head-to-head battle in the California primary, where Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is not on the ballot. The winner of the California primary takes away 271 national convention delegate votes.

The results in Tuesday's two primaries illustrate Humphrey's increasing problems.

In Michigan, a state he carried in the 1968 presidential election, Humphrey finished a poor third, more than 100,000 votes behind McGovern, of South Dakota. He did especially poorly in blue collar and suburban areas.

In Maryland, only an overwhelming majority in Baltimore's predominantly black 7th Congressional District enabled Humphrey to finish ahead of McGovern for second place behind Wallace.

The results were the latest in a series of weaker-than-expected performances by Humphrey in the industrial heartland that was the center of his 1968 strength and promised to be so again this year.

In Pennsylvania, though the clear winner of the preference vote, Humphrey won 55 delegates to a strong showing of 39 for McGovern. In Ohio, a bare 20,000-vote statewide majority saved Humphrey from a disaster by giving him 38 at-large delegates for a total of 74, to McGovern's 66.

Only a strong showing in a black congressional district in Cleveland saved Ohio for the Minnesota senator. Similarly, black votes were responsible for his second-place showing in Florida and for the one congressional district he won in Wisconsin.

In Michigan, even his black support began to diminish. McGovern increased his share of the black vote, and New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm won some of it, too.

Now, the Democratic primary race moves on to states which, for the most part, seem more favorable to McGovern than to Humphrey.

In Oregon, in fact, Humphrey has decided against contesting next Tuesday's primary. McGovern's only active rival is Rep. Patsy Mink of Hawaii. Humphrey plans some campaigning for Rhode Island's primary the same day. Polls there show McGovern ahead.

In New Jersey, which holds its primary the same day as California, Humphrey appears to have strong organization and labor support. But McGovern has a strong volunteer organization and appears to be in position to capture close to half of the state's delegation.

In New York, which will elect 238 of its 278 delegates on June 20, Humphrey appears in even greater difficulty. Though he once listed it along with California as a vital state, the Minnesota senator was unable to file a delegate slate and is relying on uncommitted slates of party regulars.

The result is that McGovern supporters now appear to be virtually unopposed for 92 of the New York delegates and are in good position to more than double that June 20. McGovern aides talk of winning between 200 and 240 of the New York delegates.

Gary Hart, McGovern's campaign manager, says the senator will have 1,300 delegates just 200 short of the 1,509 needed to nominate after the New York primary, if the South Dakota senator wins in California.

It's a crucial if, but far from an unlikely one. Polls show McGovern gaining, though still a bit behind as of early May. Humphrey aides concede McGovern will out-pace and out-organize them in California.

They count, however, on Humphrey's appeal among industrial workers, the state's substantial Jewish population and the blacks and Chicanos, who make up 25 per cent of the state's Democratic vote.

Regardless Of U.S. Action In Vietnam

Nixon Visit Still On-Kremlin

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Well before the decision to mine the North Vietnamese harbors was made, Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev privately had assured Washington in the strongest terms that no matter what the United States did in Vietnam, the Soviet Union wanted the Nixon visit to take place.

You may call off the trip, Brezhnev's representative told the White House. That's your privilege. But the U.S.S.R. absolutely will not.

The possibility of the minings was not mentioned in this exchange. But the Russians have anticipated this U.S. action for some time. In fact, before the President's announcement they had sent a minesweeper sailing southward.

The Russian determination not to let anything stand in the way of the Nixon meetings was again evident during the bombing of Haiphong harbor which took place just before the preparation trip presidential adviser Henry Kissinger made to Moscow.

Here Kissinger and Brezhnev laid their cards on the table in a most undiplomatic and forceful way. Yet, so far as is known, the Russians did not complain even privately that U.S. bombers sank a Russian ship at Haiphong in the bombing raids. Moscow has not officially protested the sinking or mentioned it publicly.

One thing is clear to men close to these talks with the Russians: Moscow is quite angry with Hanoi. The Russian leaders claim that North Vietnam conducted this current invasion across the DMZ on its own without consulting them and did it in order to embarrass both the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet rulers have said bluntly that we can believe them or not, but does it make sense, they ask, for the Soviet Union to provoke something that can only embarrass both countries and make more difficult the summit meeting which is so important to the Soviet Union as well as to the United States?

The Russians say they are especially angry because Hanoi went ahead without notifying Moscow and giving the Kremlin a chance to air Soviet objections.

A high Soviet official is known to have complained to a Western pro-Communist diplomat that the North Vietnamese were as much of an enigma to Moscow in this affair as to Western governments.

This reporter doesn't know, of course, whether the Russians are telling the truth or not. But he does know that some of the most ardent anti-Communist Hawks in the government are convinced that this time the Kremlin men are truthful. They say in private that they have the classified evidence to back their beliefs.

Officials here expect that Russia will send the above mentioned minesweeper, and perhaps others, on to Haiphong. The minesweeper will clear a path through the harbor. According to present plans, U.S. warships will not block this action. But once the path is cleared, U.S.

planes will fill the safe passage with additional mines. How many times this action will be repeated is not clear.

The Russians will then be able to say they did their best for their comrades in North Vietnam and the United States will be able to say it enforced the mining of Haiphong.

At least this is the hopeful scenario now foreseen by U.S. planners.

My husband and I plan to adopt a black-white child and we are running into unbelievable opposition. Both his parents and mine are against it. Many of our friends say we are crazy — that we are looking for trouble. Frankly, we have given up trying to explain. They refuse to listen.

Please tell me, Ann, are we foolish to want to give our love to an innocent child who starts out in life with two strikes against him? cigarettes. A friend told me to write to ASH to learn more about their program and what people can do to help. Their address is 2000 H Street, Washington, D. C. 20006. I followed through and the literature I received was very informative. Do you know anything about ASH? A person can't be too careful these days. — C. T. in L.A.

Dear C. T.: ASH is an excellent organization. When I was invited to serve on the founding committee of ASH I investigated it thoroughly and accepted with pleasure. It gets a Triple-A rating from here and I hope everyone who wants to know more about it will write.

Dear Ann Landers: I am very curious to know how you would have handled the following situation. I am a school teacher and need the thinking of an unbiased outsider.

Several weeks ago I took a toy musical instrument away from a 13-year-old boy who was playing it during class. I returned it to him at the end of the day and asked him not to bring it to school again. A few days later the instrument was back and he was playing it. I took it away again and told him this time he had lost it for good. Today the boy's mother came to school and demanded that I return the toy because it belonged to another child. She informed me that if I refused I would be billed for 79 cents. I told her 79 cents was not a very big price to pay for a lesson in responsibility and that her son should be made to buy his friend a new toy. The mother was furious and the problem is still unresolved. What do you see here? — Alturas, California.

Dear Alturas: I see a boy who should buy his friend a new toy, out of his allowance. I also see a mother who will probably be defending her son against teachers for as long as he is in school. After that, she'll probably be taking his side against the police.

Brezhnev, No. 1 In Kremlin

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Leonid I. Brezhnev is a political cartoonist's dream: Black-browed, barrel-chested and dour, the very epitome of the Kremlin tough guy with a Hero Medal on his lapel.

But when President Nixon sits down to talk with him in Moscow he may find Brezhnev to be very unlike his grim reputation.

The 65-year-old General Secretary of the Soviet Communist Party can be garrulous among men, gallant among women, and witty at the dinner table. He has a taste for Scotch. He smokes cigarettes in an amber holder, wears colored shirts and tailored suits, and drives a luxurious British car. He is a grandfather.

Foreigners who have met Brezhnev have come away from his office impressed, and even charmed. He was not what they expected. "Brezhnev impressed me as a very capable and well-informed leader," U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said in April after a meeting with the Party leader. "He is an intelligent, perceptive person. He knows a great deal about the United States and about U.S. Agriculture."

He Knows About Power. Brezhnev also knows about power, how to get it and how to keep it.

He was born Dec. 19, 1906, in the Ukrainian village of Kamenskoye—now called Dneprodzerzhinsk—in the family of a poor steel worker. He was only 12 when the Bolshevik Revolution swept Russia, and he grew up as a charter member of the post-revolutionary generation.

His education was technical but his talents were administrative. He held a series of party and civil service jobs, cautiously skirting political disaster during the Stalin purges and serving as a senior political commissar in the war. In the postwar period Brezhnev rose as a protégé of the late Nikita S. Khrushchev. When Khrushchev reached power after Stalin's death, Brezhnev's future was assured.

Khrushchev entrusted him with a key project—putting a man in space. He was in charge of the Soviet cosmonaut program from 1957, and he received a "hero" medal for his part in the flight of Yuri Gagarin, the first man in space.

Brezhnev's Reward Brezhnev's reward was the presidency of the Soviet Union. It was a figurehead job that gave him little real power, but it put him in a key position to pick up the pieces after Khrushchev's removal.

He had a major role in bringing about the fall of Khrushchev, but for several years he was content to share the glories and responsibilities of power with the president and premier of the Soviet Union in a "troika" arrangement.

Gradually he drew more authority to himself and within a few years he was the "first among equals." The assumption of so much authority carried with it the assumption of responsibility, and Brezhnev took the blame—and credit—for the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Later he also won most of the responsibility and credit for the Soviet Union's drive to settle leftover disputes in Europe, a job that took him on his first trips to the West.

Trips Bring Exposure Those trips brought expected exposure, and Leonid Brezhnev was revealed as something other than a hard and heartless Kremlin boss.

In connection with a trip to France he gave a rare interview to the French Communist Party newspaper L'Humanite.

"You wonder if he can be the same man that is always portrayed in those stereotyped photos," the L'Humanite interviewer said.

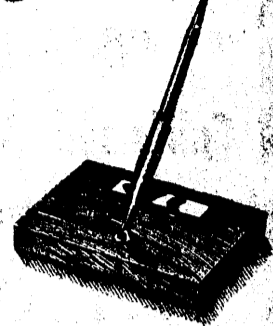

Brezhnev, who has suffered two heart attacks since his 50th birthday, admitted in the interview to having a problem with the smoking habit. He used a time-released cigarette box to help cut down.

He also said that the cares of his office lay heavily upon him, and that he sometimes took sleeping pills.

"You know, the problems of the day don't stop spinning in my head at night," he said.

city authorities. Ruth Vetter says there were enough applications in April to fill weight control classes until November. The city Health Department just doesn't have enough help or space to handle any more overweight people in the program, she says.

By JAMES BAPIS

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—In a distant corner of a neatly trimmed cemetery, against the backdrop of the picturesque Sutter Buttes, rest the mortal remains of "14 men of the sod, four of them known only to God."

A year has passed since their bodies and those of 11 other itinerant farm workers were unearthed from makeshift graves along the banks of the meandering Feather River—the victims of mass murder. All had been hacked to death by machete-type instruments.

Two to a grave, the 14 victims in the cemetery have been placed end-to-end along a chain link fence—as far removed in death from others buried there as they were from the mainstream while alive. Nothing has yet been done to disturb their image as "nameless, faceless" men.

Four of them remain unidentified and a four-by-three-foot marker being prepared for them will so note. Its inscription will read: "Here lie 14 men of the sod, four of them known only to God."

Caretakers, openly resentful of newsmen, keep busy cutting and watering the cemetery lawn but refuse to answer any questions about these pauper interments except to point toward that low eared for section of the cemetery and say: "They're over there by the fence."

Not far away, in a two-room cell in the outmoded Sutter County jail, Juan V. Corona, the man accused of the murders, spends his time reading, eating heartily, watching television, exercising and trying his hand at painting. From painting by-the-numbers he has progressed to "decoupage," or applying varnish to prints placed on a wooden surface.

The latter two activities are part of a physical therapy program encouraged by his doctor following two apparent heart attacks Corona suffered last summer after his arrest for the 25 murders. He pleaded innocent.

Corona, healthy, black-haired, taciturn farm labor contractor now appears much healthier than a year ago and has regained nearly all of the 25 pounds he lost during his long illness. In fact, he has been placed on a diet. His spirits are described as good while the legal maneuvering continues and his case moves slowly but inexorably toward trial.

"His spirits are good, better than I expected after he was denied bail," Richard Hawk, Corona's attorney said. "Now that we've got one leg on them with the change of venue, he figures his chances of getting a fair trial are better."

Hawk was referring to a recent order by a state appellate court to move the 35-year-old Mexican-born Corona's trial to an urban community because of fears he could not receive a fair trial in rural Sutter County.

"A reasonable likelihood of unfairness may exist even though the news coverage was neither inflammatory nor productive of overt hostility," the three-member court agreed in a unanimous opinion last month.

The order to shift the trial is being appealed by the state attorney general's office. After months of passiveness in which they groped with their shock over the enormity of the charges against him, Corona's family—his aging mother, Candida; his wife, Gloria; his brother, Pedro; and his four children—are now actively engaged in his defense.

At each of his court appearances now they can be seen holding placards demanding "Justice for Juan V. Corona" and singing in Spanish in a plea for his release on bail. Last month they held a rally on the Capitol steps in Sacramento, denouncing his incarceration.

Raise Defense Fund. In addition, they are traveling around the state, addressing Mexican-American audiences in an effort to raise funds for his defense in what promises to be a long trial.

"There is a smile on his face now when he goes to court," Hawk said, describing Corona's reaction to the demonstrations. But there is little discussion any more among the residents of a closed issue, it's not open to Billy Vaughn and talked about any more," said Herbert Kent who used to visit here quite a bit," the soft-spoken minister said. "They disappeared about the time all these killings happened."

"I guess the only thing I hear any more is some resentment that the trial is going to be moved somewhere else and thus cost a lot more money," he added. "The people want justice for Corona but they wonder why it's taking so long to bring it to trial."

G. Dave Teja, the district attorney who is Corona's prosecutor, agrees there is little public talk now about the case. "Once in a while it's brought up but only in a general way the pipe-smoking district attorney said, glancing up at a newspaper headline tacked on his bulletin board which boldly reads: "Corona Denied Bail."

DA Key in Ball Case. It was Teja who played a key role in the state Supreme Court's modification of its decision abolishing capital punishment in California. The high court changed its ruling to allow judges to deny bail to defendants whose crimes would previously have been considered "capital cases" under state statutes.

Although most Sutter County residents seem to have forgotten about the case, it's still clearly on the mind of the Rev. C.W. Renwick, superintendent of the Twin Cities Reformatory.

On Unjustified Drug Claims

By WILLIAM B. MEAD.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government wants you to know the truth about the pills and potions sold to quell your headache, calm your nerves and soothe your stomach. The results may be startling.

Consider television, where one of every 10 commercials now describes the wonders of drugs and where, if the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has its way, you may hear:

—The Bayer man telling you that his aspirin may not be better than cheaper brands.

—Bufferin, Anacin and Excedrin commercials acknowledging that plain aspirin is that magic ingredient, and that even if their stuff does contain more of it or get into your blood faster there's no proof your headache will benefit.

—Listerine antiseptic apologizing for past commercials and telling you the mouthwash won't even lessen your cold or sore throat, much less cure or prevent it.

—Vivarin, that tonic for the tired housewife, telling you that all that alleged pep comes from caffeine equal to that in half a cup of coffee.

—Some respected medical spokesmen debunking claim after claim for drug after drug and telling you those ads about "tests at a leading hospital" don't reflect over-all medical evidence.

A Real Goal
Fanciful as this may seem, it is the goal sought in false advertising cases and other initiatives by the FTC.

Television is only part of the picture. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is turning independent scientists loose to check claims made for thousands of nonprescription medicines.

Worthless ones will be banned and others will have to tone down their claims, the FDA says. The results of these studies in turn are expected to provide material for more false advertising cases.

The studies will be conducted by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council (NAS-NRC). In a previous study of 410 nonprescription drugs, the group concluded that only 28 per cent "had an indication that was classifiable as effective."

Together, the FTC and FDA initiatives constitute a massive attack on alleged deception. The magnitude of the effort is reflected in the fact that about $2.5 billion worth of nonprescription drugs were sold in the United States last year.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards has called ads for nonprescription drugs "atrocious in their deception."

Gerald J. Thain, assistant director of the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, criticized advertising for nonprescription, or over-the-counter, drugs even more harshly in an April 27 speech.

"Much of today's over-the-counter drug advertising ... is restricting knowledge, sowing confusion and preventing, rather than helping, the free competition necessary to serve the consumer," Thain said.

"... Much of today's advertising stresses trivial or unsupported or even spurious differences between older products and 'new improved products,'" he said. "... Over-the-counter drug advertising in broadcast media alone exceeded $300 million in 1970—an amount equal to about 30 per cent of all sales, by far the highest in American industry."

"Not only are over-the-counter drugs huckstered more intensively than soaps and detergents, but the overconsumption of drugs also poses direct dangers to the consumer's health as well as to his pocketbook," Thain continued. "... The hundreds of thousands of hospital admissions every year, resulting from adverse reactions to over-the-counter drugs, belie any casual belief in the absolute safety of (these) drugs."

Aspirin for Everyone
The quantities are indeed staggering. In 1970, Thain said, "there was enough aspirin sold to supply each man, woman and child in this country with 225 five-grain tablets."

"It took $100 million worth of advertising to sell this amount," he added. Robert Pitofsky, Thain's boss at the FTC, explained in connection with the cases against Bayer, Anacin, Excedrin, Bufferin and other leading pain killers how high advertising expenses lead to high prices and high consumption of drugs people may not need.

With more than 30 cents of every sales dollar going for advertising, Pitofsky said, consumers "pay significantly more" for brand name analgesics, or pain killers, because of "the misleading impression that there are significant therapeutic differences among the products."

FDA and FTC officials are not alone in their criticisms. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., whose Senate subcommittee has held nearly five years of hearings on drug practices, said the testimony of "leading physicians and pharmacologists ... has been a shocking indictment of deceptive advertising and false claims for products for which American consumers spend billions of dollars."

'Major Health Problem'
Many druggists agree. At one of Nelson's hearings last year, W. James Bicket testified in behalf of the American Pharmaceutical Association that nonprescription drug advertising has "become a major public health problem" and "contributes substantially to the drug orientation of our culture."

"It exaggerates claims and it even attempts to convince people that they have non-existent diseases," Bicket said of the advertising.

Asked its opinion of the criticism, the Proprietary Association, representing 80 manufacturers of advertised nonprescription drugs, declined comment.

If the charges are true, why has the government not moved sooner? The answer appears to be a mixture of lethargy and legal technicalities.

The FDA is responsible for checking the safety and effectiveness of drugs. The FTC enforces laws against deceptive advertising. The two agencies have a history of bickering rather than cooperating; both also were criticized in past years for an alleged reluctance to regulate business.

Also, until passage of the Kefauver-Harris amendments of 1962, the FDA was limited to checking safety of drugs. The 1962 law mandated that drugs be proved effective as well. The FDA has been playing catch-up ball ever since, and concentrated until this year on prescription drugs. Nonprescription remedies had virtually free rein until the FDA started its massive scientific study last January.

According to the FTC, this requires a new kind of catch-up ball in which deceptive ads are not only stopped but are replaced by "corrective advertising" that admits past deception. Otherwise, the agency reasons, consumers will continue to be guided by the allegedly deceptive past ads.

The FTC is seeking such "corrective ads" from Listerine, Vivarin and the pain killers. In the latter case, the agency wants one-fourth of all advertising money for two years spent on commercials and ads with no message except the confession of past deceptions.

The manufacturers dispute the FTC's allegations, and resulting court fights may take years to resolve. In the meantime, the FTC is pushing for another concept called "counter advertising" in which time to tell the "other side" of certain advertising claims.

"Counter advertising" would not be limited to medicines, but FTC Chairman Miles W. Kirkpatrick specifically mentioned the use in commercials of one-sided scientific drug tests as an example of claims where another viewpoint should be presented.

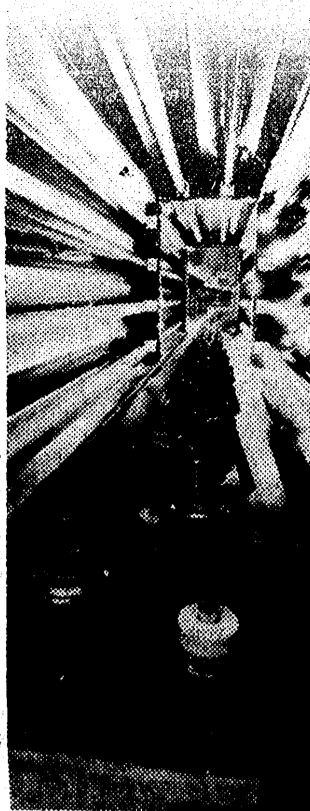

The FTC's "counter advertising" recommendation is now before the Federal Communications Commission, which must adopt or reject it.

Prove Claims
In another step, the FTC has ordered manufacturers of toothpastes and cough and cold remedies to submit the scientific data behind their ads. The replies will be made public shortly. The FTC says consumers can then judge whether the claims are proper.

If the FTC prevails in its deceptive advertising cases, one manufacturer may have a particularly sticky problem that perhaps illustrates the vagaries of drug advertising. The pain killer case cited Bayer Aspirin and Vanquish, both made by Sterling Drug, Inc.

In Bayer advertising, the FTC said, Sterling claims that no combination product is more effective than plain aspirin, and that "buffering" isn't necessary. Vanquish, however, contains aspirin plus a buffer. Its ads tell the consumer he deserves "extra strength" and "gentle buffers."

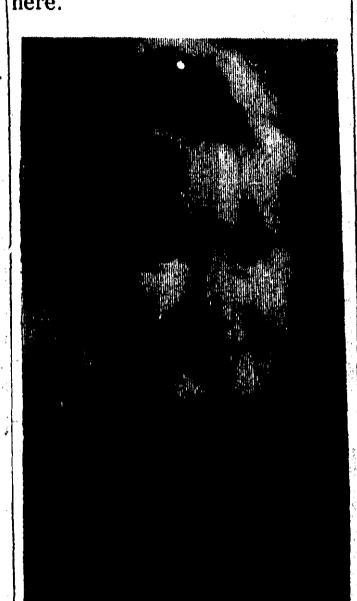

"At least one of these mutually inconsistent claims

FULL SLEEVES COMING
NEW YORK (AP) — Full sleeves in garments will be in evidence next fall and next spring, predicts the Traphagen School of Fashion.

Very tailored clothes for day and dinner dresses with emphasis on the bosom also were forecast by students taking part in the school's 49th annual fashion show.

THWARTS HOLDUPS
IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Two Irving businessmen are putting on the market an electronic safe which they think can foil holdups at grocery stores and service stations.

Charles Williams and Joe Arrington say the new device is time controlled and designed to serve as a safe place for a day's receipts. It does not change periodically and only in small amounts. It gives the clerks adequate funds for making change but not enough to make them a target for holdup men.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

FRIDAY, MAY 19—Born today, you are one whose judgment is always profoundly influenced by surroundings. Should you be surrounded by persons not in harmony with you or each other, should you be in the midst of turmoil, argument, indeed, should you in short, be in situations that are other than peaceful in any way, your judgment will suffer—and it will suffer precisely to that degree that your circumstances are "out of joint." The more peaceful your surroundings, the more in harmony with you and your ways, the more quickly and accurately you will be able to judge things. Although you do not allow your problems to pile up or to return, it isn't that you have a habit of making the same mistakes twice and thus creating the same difficulties for yourself over and over again, it is that you find it impossible to forget about difficulties. Thus you allow them to plague you in retrospect, long after they are in reality gone. Although it is not easy for you to be pressed into opinions or activities for which you do not feel a natural bent, other people will continue to try to influence you. For you are a valuable supporter of any given project of which you are in favor, one which friends will fight to keep from foes—and vice versa.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, May 20
TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Outside activities keep the excitement where it belongs. Those who must be indoors can enjoy the peace and quiet without interruption.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—An incredibly good day for the Gemini willing to give the "other guy" the advantage. If you insist upon having it all your own way, however, watch out.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—An unusual happening early this morning may well change the course of your entire life. There's nothing to be afraid of, however.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Take care that in your anxiety over achieving success you don't become so uptight that you can't function properly in your duties.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Make your decisions today only when you are absolutely cool-headed. Otherwise, emotions are going to rule and you are going to do yourself out of gain.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Take your time studying the situation and you should soon be able to see your way through to the central issue. Guard against a hasty move.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—A Saturday for family fun. You may not be able to participate with family members in a special activity—but you can sit on the sidelines and cheer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)— or another, you seem to be one of those to whom old problems return. It isn't that you have a habit of making the same mistakes twice and thus creating the same difficulties for yourself over and over again, it is that you find it impossible to forget about difficulties. Thus you allow them to plague you in retrospect, long after they are in reality gone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—One who has accused you lately of being unfair may come to understand you better today—if you will take the time to explain yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Bad news received last week may be discounted at this time. The decision-making process is thus free to work more independently.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Make a financial deal this morning—but only if you have had expert advice and clearly understand your chances for coming up with a loss instead of gain.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Make long-range plans regarding a family vacation. Differences of opinion must be respected even as a compromise is being reached by all involved.

CLUB MEMBERS

ASHLAND — The Prentice Goodwill club met May 16 at the home of Colleen Morrow with 12 members present. Plans were made for a night out at the Blackhawk in Jacksonville on June 6th and for a Christmas in September bazaar and bake sale to be held at the Municipal building Sept. 9th.

Colleen Morrow surprised everyone with a pretty red rose corsage. The rose is the club flower, and everyone is to wear the corsage on their night out. Motions were made and carried out for a donation to the Smith family in Loami because of their recent fire in which they lost everything and two of their children, and a donation to the cancer fund in honor of Martha East.

Games were played, and Amelia Atwood won two of the prizes, and Margaret Huff won one. Amelia Atwood also won the door prize.

Delicious refreshments of cherry delight and crackers with iced tea and coffee were served by Gladys Creed and Colleen Morrow.

Beardstown City Cemetery Keeps 'Flower Power'

BEARDSTOWN — The city council Tuesday refused to approve a proposal to limit the number of flower containers for graves in the Beardstown cemetery.

With one member absent the council voted five to four to disapprove an ordinance which would have restricted to a single container the flowers on the graves.

Backers of the ordinance said that with limited help in the cemetery more containers constituted an undue amount of work for custodians.

Aldermen Phelps, Hale, Carter, Beatty and Reller voted in opposition to the proposal.

Track bids After bids on a new city truck had been opened and the lowest bid given city council approval, Alderman Hale advised the council that the truck in question would have a 12-foot instead of a 14-foot bed, and that the bids had not been up to specifications. It was then decided to re-advertise for bids on the truck.

Investment of certain city funds was decided upon.

Aldermen again discussed the hazard and unsightliness of old houses and indicated some would be ordered demolished. It was decided to contact the owner of the Melody Inn on Fourth street and order action taken to rid the community of the building, said to be infested by rats.

Small Car Shies From Deer On Road; 2 Injured

MT. STERLING — Deer in the Brown and Adams counties area are becoming a hazard to drivers of small cars. Recently Robert Zimmerman and wife, Chelsea, were injured in an accident near Quincy.

The small car driven by Zimmerman went out of control as he attempted to avoid striking a deer on the road. The vehicle left the highway and overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman were taken to St. Mary's hospital at Quincy for treatment and later released. The incident was three miles east of Liberty.

In Iowa Show Mt. Sterling people will be exhibiting this weekend, May 20-21, at the Iowa City, Iowa, Gem and Mineral show. Included will be Mr. and Mrs. D. F. ## THE DOCTOR SAYS This 15-Year-Old Had 13 Operations

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 15 years old and have had 13 operations, including a tumor above my right eye, tonsillectomy, removal of part of my bladder and my right kidney. As you can imagine, I have spent a lot of time in the hospital and have missed quite a lot of school. Because of this I developed slowly and am way behind most kids my age in body maturity. I am weak and get exhausted after the least bit of strain. My doctor prohibited me from participating in football, basketball and even physical education class. I would like to know what sports you think would be bad for one and what sports would do my physical condition good. Thank you, from KKidney-less.

Dear Reader — Of course you would like to participate in some sports, but I really think you had better rely on your doctor's judgment, because he knows all the details of your problems. Although physical activity is very good for individuals who are healthy, sometimes when one has had serious illnesses like you have had, they can be harmful. You might talk to your doctor about the advisability of walking and hiking, which could help build you up physically to some extent. If your over-all physical condition will permit this, and if it is allowable it might help you gain some strength.

For anyone who has been inactive for a long time, even a young person like yourself, the proper way to begin any physical activity would be a good walking program, carried out for a period of months until your physical condition will permit you to do something more.

If you are going to be physically limited for a long period of time, you might at least be able to compete with other people by developing your ability in games of skill. You don't need to be Hercules to be able to compete with other people and enjoy it. If you like cards, why not become a real card sharp at bridge? It would help you socially and you could play bridge with your friends or some other card games if you preferred. You could make a project out of it, or if you really wanted to work on something brainy, why not become an expert on chess?

The American Optometric Assn. has a good safety suggestion. They recommend that all motorcyclists wear reflective material on all sides of their helmets to provide greater safety at night. The reflective material should be open triangles of about five square inches. Triangles of this size can be detected at distances of about 800 feet, which is three times farther than a normal white helmet can be seen at night.

Readers spent $2.8 billion for daily and Sunday newspapers in 1971.

'Lady-In-Waiting' Story Still Alive

By DAVID NAGY
MOSCOW (UPI)—A young woman circles the unmarked grave in Leningrad, quietly praying.
Then she drops a wad of paper on the limestone tiles and walks off.
A Russian newspaper reporter, lurking nearby to get material for an article on superstitious rites, picks up the paper and reads the message scrawled upon it. It says, he reports:
"Dear Saint, please help me get a room with a balcony."

Other messages are found by the reporter at the gravesite, and he quotes some:
"Dear Saint, please help me pass my exams."
"Dear Saint, please cure my husband of alcoholism."
What is going on here, in this Leningrad cemetery, in this 55th year of Soviet power, are, according to the Soviet Press, rites of adoration and appeals to "St. Lady-in-Waiting," a religious folklore figure who has been a legend since Catherine The Great's day.

4-H Club News Notes

The Chapin Top Notchers Girls' 4-H club members, leaders, parents and guests enjoyed a tour of the Jacksonville Jayce Home Show at the Jacksonville Airport Bisch Hangar on Friday evening, April 21.

The group met at the Chapin Legion Building at six o'clock and traveled to the Home Show location, where they enjoyed viewing the many displays and exhibits. Leaders Mrs. Warren Lloyd and Miss Lavona Schone were in charge of the tour.

Those furnishing transportation to the event were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lloyd, Miss Lavona Schone, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Boehs, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boehs, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr, Mr. and Mrs. John Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Staske, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Staske, Jr. Other guests were Mrs. Roy Schone, Mrs. Gene Andrews, Mrs. Bernice Ogle, Anna Boehs, Karen Hillig, Mark Staske, Terry and Rodney Staske.

The Pontiac Pioneer 4-H club held its monthly meeting at the Community building in Chandlerville May 9.

The meeting was opened with the pledge of allegiance led by Billy Schultz and the 4-H pledge by Chuck Geiss.

The business session was held, and it was announced that Tom Finn is to go to State Forestry and Chuck Geiss was chosen to go to the State 4-H Week.

A demonstration was given by Ricky Bottens. Caron Jurgens gave a talk.

Refreshments were served by Tom Finn.

A recent issue of "Science and Religion" newspaper, a periodical that espouses Soviet atheist doctrine and debunks spiritual faith, zeroed in on "St. Lady-in-Waiting" as an example of the "religious superstition" that lingers on in good corners of Russian life.

What alarms "Science and Religion" is that the believers in this case are not confined to elderly women, who the Soviets are prepared to shrug off as the fading guardians of Russian Orthodox faith.

"One can sometimes see young women, teen-agers and even children circling and praying around the unmarked plot," it reported.

According to popular legend, "St. Lady-in-Waiting" started life as a beautiful member of Catherine's court, named Anna Ivanovna Lukashchev.

Early on, the legend goes, some cad of a military officer seduced and jilted Anna and sent her reeling out into the night to commit suicide. A body later was found in a snowbank in a Neva River island.

Years later, though, an old crone showed up in the local marketplace and established a reputation among high-born and low as a sage and miracle healer.

Hysterical crowds mobbing her regularly, snatching bits of her clothes and even her hair as "healing relics."

Noble Stranger
Police picked her up. She would not say who she was, but she had a mysterious noble bearing and she could speak English and German, in the noble manner.

You guessed it. Somebody remembered the yarn about the jilted lady-in-waiting who disappeared into the snowstorm, and "St. Lady-in-Waiting" was born.

Church officials fought over her body when she died.

The crowd at the Camelot bridge-orama were in great excitement. It was the last hand of the championship. Gawaine and his brother Gareth sat East and West for Ireland. Lancelot and his son Galahad sat North and South for England. England had to bid and make game to win the match and the audience cheered when after Lancelot's limit raise to three spades,

A Leningrad church got her and built a little wooden chapel over her grave, where believers made pilgrimages for more than 60 years until the Bolshevik revolution put a stop to it. Or tried to.

The chapel was torn down. The pilgrimages became politically unwise. "The grave itself was washed out by underground waters, collapsed and disappeared," says "Science and Religion."

But still they come, to a gravesite located only by legend.

Galahad went on to game because his heart was pure and because he had six spades.

Gareth opened the king of clubs. Galahad looked over dummy carefully and thought, "Forsooth, if I had Merlin's magic I would have been three no-trump. Now I have to keep Gawaine out of the lead else my contract is lost."

Then he called for dummy's deuce of clubs. Gawaine played the nine and now it was Gareth's turn to do something. He thought and played the ten of clubs.

Galahad thought some more. Did Gareth hold king-queen-jack-small of clubs? In that case it was up to Galahad to duck again but he decided that Gareth's club holding was exactly what it was. Then he called for dummy's ace; led the six of clubs and discarded a diamond.

"Gadzooks!" cried Gareth. "Thou playest as well as Lancelot." Then he cashed his ace of hearts to save the overtrick that Galahad would score if Gareth played anything else.

End Of Cloth Bolt Causes Price Jolt

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is having to buy yard goods I do not want or need because it is near the end of a bolt. This has happened to me in three different stores and just because it was the end of the bolt I have had to buy as much as 1/2-yard extra in order to get something I really wanted. I sew to save money and this can make a dress cost three to five dollars more than expected. — JUNE

Green Beans Salad Bowl
Mrs. Banner's Chocolate Pie
MRS. BANNER'S CHOCOLATE PIE
This favorite dessert comes from a Boston hostess.

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup unsifted flour
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks
3 squares (each 1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate, broken in half
4 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 tablespoon butter
9-inch baked pastry shell
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

In the top part of a double boiler stir together the sugar and flour; gradually stir in 1/2 cups of the milk, keeping smooth. In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks with remaining 1/2 cup milk and add to sugar mixture; add chocolate. Cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in 3 teaspoons of the vanilla and the butter. Cool slightly. Pour into pastry shell. Refrigerate overnight to allow filling to set. Just before serving, whip cream with confectioners' sugar and remaining 1 teaspoon vanilla; spread over pie.

(Last of a Series)

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
KINGSTON, Jamaica (NEA)

duty-free shops. It is home for almost two million proud people of mixed blood who were carted here on slave ships and mongrelized by plantation lords. They want to do more than pick bananas from trees and play calypso.

It has recently had its first change of government since it gained autonomous rule 10 years ago. Michael Manley, descended from a line of distinguished Jamaican lawyers and political leaders, sometimes called the Pierre Trudeau of the West Indies for his flamboyant good looks and social life, brought the Peoples National Party to power. It was first organized back in 1938 by his father, the island's leading barrister. The PNP supplanted the Jamaica Labour Party, which is only the second general election in the history of the island, whose culture is derived from the British. Bush jackets are now even worn to sessions of Parliament. Jamaica has been basically an enlightened land. The blacks secured their freedom from slavery from the British a full 30 years before the United Maroons. Like other Caribbean islands, there have been rumblings of black power, but it's really academic in a country which already has it. Ninety-six per cent of the population is black and holds all the major political offices (although it still ranks

The big problem of Jamaica is self-sufficiency. The vegetation is verdant: the fruit is plentiful. But an island rising out of the ocean like a rugged wall, seldom flattening out into plains, is not inherently rich enough for the pressures of the 20th-century world community. Its lee side at the eastern end of the island is quite arid, almost a wasteland. It doesn't raise enough food; it doesn't graze enough cattle; it doesn't have sufficient minerals. And so it's caught in an economic trap.

The largest supplier of bauxite in the world, Jamaica still has to import its finished aluminum products from places like Canada and England because they're where the skilled labor fashions the metal (the end product of bauxite).

There is, as a result, unrest. The Daily Gleaner, which is to Jamaica as The New York Times is to America, reflects the turmoil. Strikes of sugar cane workers and other symptoms of dissatisfaction fill its news columns.

Jamaica needs to maximize its main resource—people. They come in all hues and sizes. They are spirited and resourceful. But they are just now emerging, educationally into the 20th century. There is a currently strong emphasis on schooling, which has become mandatory. The University of the West Indies here compares favorably with any in the Western Hemisphere ment spokesman. "I'll be a generation of the know-nothing young. They'll be dissatisfied, just as the American youth. They will seethe and foster dissent. And from that dissent will come eventually improvement for all Jamaica."

Glass Will Be Bulletproof In Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois Senate appropriations committee approval Wednesday of a $900,000 outlay for rebuilding the House chamber includes $40,000 for bulletproof glass walls to separate lawmakers from the public.

A newsmen raised the objection that auditors of the proceedings of the House would be dependent on a sound system operated by the presiding officer.

But Sen. Cecil A. Partee, D. Chicago, commented: "I do not think they have the lack of judgment to conduct a session where not all could be heard. 'If I thought the House would operate in a non-public manner I would not sponsor this.'"

"As I understand this, the use of the glass is to shut out the noises of the public," he commented. The bill was sent to the Senate floor on a 10-2 vote.

Japanese Influence Grows In Latin American Areas

By DANIEL DROSDOFF for or got a loan from a bank
RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—or anyone else to buy his small Masao Kiyono, 50, never asked grape farm in Ibiuna, some 50 miles from Sao Paulo. "I do not like to borrow because I do not like to pay interest," he said.

Kiyono came to Brazil as a child in 1935 from Hokkaido with three brothers and a sister to work on coffee plantations. "We suffered much. We were treated like slaves," he recalled unhappily.

But, by long hours of work and frugal saving, Kiyono and his wife got the money to buy a small farm that now produces 33,000 pounds of Italian grapes a year. Neighbors marvel because, while the harvest of most grape growers in the region lasts only one month—February—Kiyono's harvest lasts from February to March.

Because of the high crop yields achieved by farmers such as Kiyono, the Japanese in Brazil are known as "agricultural wizards." But Kiyono said there was no secret to his success. "I built an artificial lake near the vineyard. This keeps the temperature even all year round," he said.

Future Impact The efforts and skill of Kiyono are an example of how the Japanese have made their influence felt, not only in Brazil, but in Latin America as a whole. Prospects are the Japanese will make an even greater impact in the future, not so much in immigration as in the field of investments from the mother country.

In Peru, Japanese investment nearly doubled this year when Petro-Peru signed a contract with the Toyo Engineering Co. of Japan for a $44 million fertilizer plant in Talara, near the border with Ecuador.

In Argentina, the government is negotiating with Japan for a contract totaling $400 million for renovation of the General Roca Railroad which spreads a web to southern Argentina.

Japanese investments in Brazil are estimated at somewhere between $600 million and $1.17 billion, with the corporations of Mitsubishi, Seiko, Hitachi, Toshiba and Mitsui holding much of it. The Ishikawajima shipyards have built 200,000 dead weight tons, and Toyota, which has had a tiny factory here for 17 years, is planning to expand operations to compete with Volkswagen, which has captured 65 per cent of the Brazilian market.

Economy Minister Antonio Delfim Neto visited Japan recently and suggested that there was plenty of room for more Japanese investment, especially in joint ventures.

Brazil's Japanese Brazil not only takes the lion's share of Japanese investment in South America, but it also has the largest Japanese community, estimated at about 750,000 persons. This is over 10 times the size of the Japanese community of Peru, estimated at 70,000 persons.

Brazil is believed to be the largest Japanese community outside of Japan. Argentina's Japanese community numbers 20,000, while Mexico's is estimated at 4,000. Colombia and Venezuela have Japanese communities estimated at only 1,000 persons, while Chile's numbers less than 1,000, according to Japanese embassy estimates.

But the impact of the Japanese cannot be judged in terms of numbers alone. Individual talent goes far.

Take the case of Jorge Enrique Hoshino, a civil engineer and a horticulture technician who arrived in Bogota, Colombia, in 1921, representing a Tokyo construction firm.

He is the first Japanese known to have settled in Colombia. Hoshino, now 73, has designed parks and gardens all over the country, including those of the National University. At the request of then Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt, he designed and built a floating garden on the terrace of the Miraflores Palace in Caracas.

The Japanese community in Brazil has its base in the immigration of workers to the coffee plantations in Sao Paulo State that began in the first decade of this century.

A Success Story Yoshihiko Maeda, 62, came to Brazil at the age of 18 to work on a potato farm on a subsistence salary.

Aided by his four daughters and three sons, Maeda now owns a 173-acre farm that produces 3,000 chickens a month and brings in an annual harvest of 1,500 sacks of potatoes, 2,000 boxes of grapes, and 8,000 boxes of carrots and artichokes.

On the side he produces apples and plums. "We have no special technique," Maeda said. "We follow the instructions of a Japanese agronomist who orients us. I do not know what methods he follows. We read a lot of books, and most are in Japanese."

The monument to Japanese agricultural influence in Brazil is the giant CEASA cooperative market in the city of Sao Paulo. Here 60 per cent of the fruits and vegetables and fish for the also are imported from Tokyo. Lameiro where they stock the fruit and vegetable markets.

Pervasive Influence Massami Uyeda, one of the seven Japanese public prosecutors in Sao Paulo, traveled to Japan to take a special course in drug prevention.

Once a year experts and judges of Kendo, the swordplay that dates from the times of the Samurai, fly from Japan to Sao Paulo to supervise competition and awards at the all-Japanese Piratanga club.

Discrimination Minor Japanese exist but has not become a major problem. Some governments, Brazil and Argentina among them, have encouraged Japanese immigration to boost agriculture in frontier and poorly developed regions, for instance northern Misiones province in Argentina, and the Amazon basin in Brazil.

The Venezuelan government, on the other hand, has discouraged projects for settling Japanese farm workers. Mitigating widespread discrimination is the fact that most Latin American countries, and especially Brazil, are multi-racial in makeup. This tends to allow for a melting into the population, if not necessarily full acceptance.

In Argentina there have been complaints against the Japanese as "very closed" although their business sense and industry are admired. In Brazil, despite their numbers and the nation's polyglot racial mix, few Japanese have gotten into the higher echelons of government or the military.

Links with the old country are common. The highest ranking officer of

Senate Passes Power Plant Bill Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a bill to authorize temporary licensing of nuclear power plants to avert power shortage in certain areas this summer.

The measure would affect about 15 plants already constructed or near completion but involved in prolonged proceedings for permanent operating authority.

Under the bill, the AEC could issue operating licenses up to Oct. 30, 1973, in cases where it is satisfied the plants meet adequate safety standards and present no unreasonable environmental hazards.

The temporary licenses will not affect the status of pending challenges to permanent licensing.

Final passage on an 80-0 roll call vote followed rejection 41-56 of an amendment by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., to allow the states to enforce radiation emission standards more restrictive than federal standards for nuclear power plants.

Schweiker said Pennsylvania officials seek regulatory authority because 16 nuclear plants are now planned in the state. He said 13 other states want similar authority.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said states need not go beyond federal regulations because they are rigid enough to protect public health universally. Pastore said the temporary licensing measure is needed to help avert brownouts or blackouts this summer in such areas as northern Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Florida, and next winter in New England, the Tennessee Valley and the Rocky Mountain area.

GUERRILLAS KILL ANOTHER BRITISH SOLDIER WEDNESDAY

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Guerrilla gunmen fatally wounded a British soldier and shot another in the leg Wednesday night. Violence in Northern Ireland during the day also left one civilian dead and 21 injured.

The soldiers were gunned down in an attack on a police station at Crossmaglen, a village near the border with the Irish Republic. They were taken to a hospital, where one died of chest and thigh wounds.

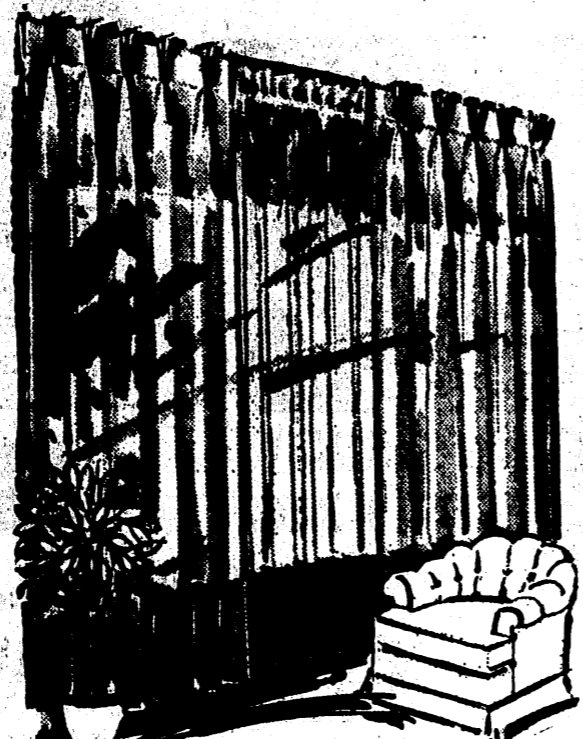

Earlier the bullet-riddled body of a civilian was found on the outskirts of Belfast. The two killings brought the death toll from the violence in Northern Ireland to 229 since August 1969.

At least 21 people were injured in other incidents in Belfast, involving a bomb placed in a parked car, a sniper attack on employees leaving a factory, and a shootout between a soldier and a gunman. The shootout occurred in the same area, Grosvenor Street, where the bomb had exploded.

St. Pachomius, an Egyptian, founded the first Christian monastery, according to the book "Great Religions of the World."

Routt Ices Title Via 7-0 Shutout

Mike Steele fired a two-hitter and got plenty of batting support as Routt blanked Perry 7-0 Thursday afternoon to capture the outright PMSC Conference crown, in a game played at Nichols Park. The league crown was the second in a row for the Rockets.

By virtue of the victory, Routt closed out its league schedule with a 6-1 mark, ahead of runner-up Chandlerville's 5-3. Perry slipped to 3-4. The Rockets finished its year with a 7-5 card.

Steele fanned nine and walked three in the shutout performance as the sophomore evened his mark at 1-1.

The Rockets jumped in front with one in the third on Kevin Kulish's RBI double. Another crossed in the fourth on a walk to Bob Kindred, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and Tom Lockman's ground out. Routt jumped on top 3-0 in the fourth on Chris Yording's single, a stolen base and an error.

The winners put it on ice with four in the sixth. Singles by Steele, Lockman and John Vahle put one across, with the second crossing on an error. Kulish singled in the third and the fourth came in on a force out.

Clear Koozman Of Wrongdoing In Fixed Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Jerry Koozman of the New York Mets has been cleared of any wrongdoing, except being "naive," in a case involving a reputedly fixed race at Yonkers Raceway almost a year ago, it has been revealed.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Wednesday that his office and Koozman "are cooperating with the FBI in relation to this matter. My investigation has not indicated any wrongdoing on the part of Koozman or that he is an object of a grand jury inquiry."

Koozman became involved when he accepted a $500 gratuity from his host at Yonkers Raceway the night of June 7, 1971, after running of an allegedly fixed race. The pitcher acknowledged he had been summoned last year before a grand jury investigating the race.

Koozman, at the time, volunteered the information that the $500 was given to him by Leonard Schindler, whose business interests at the time included ownership of a harness racing stable and a men's clothing shop at which Koozman had made public appearances.

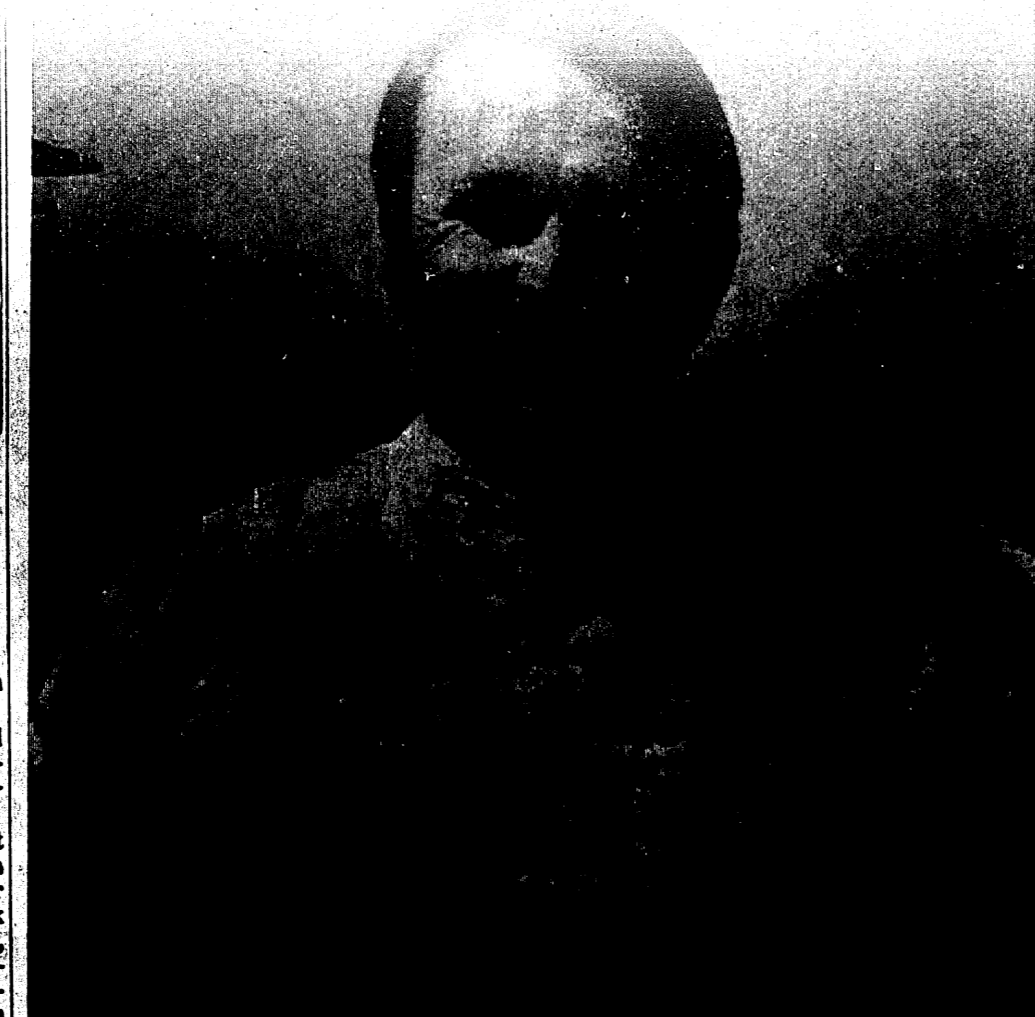

Schindler has described the money given Koozman as remuneration for his appearances at the clothing store.

INDIANAPOLIS: Race Driver Jim Malloy, 37, of Denver, Colo., died Thursday of injuries he received Sunday in a 180-miles per hour crash at the Indianapolis Speedway. Malloy, shown in recent photo, had competed in four previous 500's, with his best finish a fourth in 1971. Malloy is survived by his widow, Mary, and four children. He was the first fatality at the track since 1968. (UPI Telephoto)

Jim Malloy Dies

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Malloy was sitting at his desk at the Martin Co. in Denver in 1962 when he abruptly made the most important decision of his life—to race full-time.

"I cleaned out the desk—I remember it was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon—and packed everything into a paper box. I took the keys to my boss and told him I was through. He said I was crazy."

"My wife and I had $709 in the bank. I went by and had it all changed to her name. Then I went home and told Mary what I had done. She didn't like it, but she didn't argue too much."

Malloy, who would have been 37 next Tuesday, was fatally injured when the best race car he had ever driven crashed into the third turn barrier during a practice run at Indianapolis Motor Speedway. He died Thursday.

In addition to his widow, there were three children.

"It was the thing I wanted to do," Malloy said in an interview last Saturday, the day before his crash at 185 miles per hour.

"I wanted to race. And, sitting there at the desk, I made up my mind the time had come to try it. I had to know whether I could be as good at it as someone else."

"I've always thought I had as much nerve as the next guy, although I never tried to prove it. I never tried to climb a tree higher than the other kids, or ride a bike faster, or jump the wildest creek in the neighborhood."

"You don't really have to prove you have guts when you drive a race car. You just do it, and if you're good, people don't think of you as the most gutsy guy in the block."

He first drove hot little semi-modified cars, jalopies that sometimes look like throwbacks to the nearest salvage yard but usually are extremely powerful. He was good enough to win the Canadian-American modified association's driving title in 1964 and 1965.

Then came open cockpit machinery, midgeets and sprints, and his first ride in an Indianapolis-type championship car in 1967.

Malloy made the 33-car starting field at Indianapolis four times, starting in 1968.

His best finish was in 1971, when he drove one of Dan Gurney's Eagles to fourth place and his largest purse ever, $38,669.

He had signed this year to drive a new Eagle for Don Gerhardt.

For the first seven days of practice he was the fastest driver at the track, reaching a peak of 190-plus miles per hour.

Malloy was optimistic about his chances for fame and for-ture. "I have the best opportunity to win Indy and do well in the championship series that I have ever had. I'd like to go back to that bank in Denver and deliver enough cash to make the family secure, to guarantee the kids an education."

"That's my sole aim in life now, and I realize I have only a few more years of active racing to do it. After all, I have proved what I set out to prove—that I can drive with the best."

Cubs Keeps Cards On The Ropes, 6-4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Rudolph pounded a two-run triple highlighting a three-run fifth inning and the Chicago Cubs rolled to a 6-4 victory Thursday night over the faltering St. Louis Cardinals.

Rudolph delivered his big hit against Cards' right-hander Al Santorini, 2-5.

The triple tied the contest at 2-2 and Rudolph, the Cubs' substitute catcher, scored moments later on Don Kessinger's bloop single. Kessinger drove in two with another single in the ninth.

St. Louis, which lost its eighth straight game, pounced on Cubs' starter Milt Pappas for its runs on four hits in the opening inning.

Lou Brock opened with a single up the middle, raced to third on Ted Sizemore's double and both runners scored on Ted Simmons' single. Simmons drove in two more runs in the ninth.

Pappas was forced to retire from the game with a sore right elbow after facing six Cards batters. Veteran Juan Pizarro, 2-1, the second of four Cubs' pitchers, was credited with the victory.

Another Chicago run, unearned, came in the seventh

Coleman Tosses Three-Hitter, Tigers Roll 7-2

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Coleman fired a three-hitter and Detroit tagged Lew Krause for four runs in the fifth inning as the Tigers downed the Boston Red Sox 7-2 Thursday night.

Coleman, now 6-2, gave up a second inning single to Rico Petrocelli and double to Carlton Fisk in the fifth, and Reggie Smith's homer in the eighth.

Coleman struck out eight. Norm Cash gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead with a towering homer in the first.

Tony Taylor connected in the eighth.

A triple by Tom Haller led off the Detroit second and he came home on Dick McAuliffe's double.

In the fifth Jim Northrup doubled in a run following a single by Gates Brown and walk to Willie Horton. Haller then unloaded a two-run double, with the fourth run scoring on the second wild pitch by reliever Bill Lee.

Fisk's double led to the first Boston run. He scored on a wild pitch by Coleman.

Jacks Close Home Year, Sweep Dual

The Jacksonville High School Crimson closed out their regular track season Thursday with a decisive 95-54 dual meet verdict over Springfield Griffin on the JHS oval.

The Crimson swept 12 of the 17 events and took all three places in three events to finish at 16-1 in dual, triangular and quadrangular action.

George Haley remained undefeated in both the high and low hurdles and ran a leg on the winning 800 yard team that lowered its area best to 1:32.7.

Other Crimson winners were Kevin Floyd in the two-mile, Jim Fry in the 440, Gary Russell in the mile, the mile relay, Stan Daugherty in the long jump, Ron Fairfield in the high jump, Aaron Haley in the pole vault, and Cliff White in the triple jump. Griffin's Bob Zanot took the 100 and 200.

A 17-man JHS squad will be competing in the Springfield District Saturday, with field events to start at 9:30 a.m., track preliminaries at 10:30, finals in the two-mile at noon and finals in the high hurdles at 1:00.

STEERING COLUMN

By Bill Brodrick

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — He was about eight years old. No more than nine. The wet mop of hair fell straight down and was plastered against his forehead. A cascade of rainwater poured from the tip of his nose.

A dozen or so newspapers tucked under his arm had been reduced to a bundle of wet pulp, but none-the-less he stood his ground between the long rows of cars in the steadily-pouring rain keeping alive the proud tradition long ago created by newboys who ply their trade outside the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The weather last weekend here in central Indiana was wretched. Still people came from hundreds of miles in all directions to bear witness to the fact that someone would squeeze into a four-wheeled projectile and by virtue of driving around a 2.5-mile strip of asphalt four times, at a speed faster than anyone else, would earn the number one starting position for the race of races — the Indianapolis 500.

By now everyone knows that Bobby Unser set a new Indy qualifying record of 185.940 MPH. It won't be official until this weekend's qualification attempts are completed, because the rules say that everybody who is in line to qualify on the first day gets his chance to earn the number one slot. Peter Revson's in line yet. So is A. J. Foyt.

They might as well go ahead and make out the pole position winner's check to Unser. Nobody's going to come close.

My roommate in Indianapolis this past weekend was one of the country's top motorsports photographers and a good friend from Charlotte, N.C., Don Hunter. Traveling with Hunter to Indianapolis was the sports editor of the Charlotte NEWS, Ron Green. Ron's forte is golf. He's one of the top golf writers in the country. Indy was something new to him.

As we inched our way through the traffic going into the Speedway, the three of us, two Indy veterans and a newcomer, kicked around the question of why people by the thousands would come out on a miserable day to spend two bucks to walk around in the rain inside the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on the chance that they may see one car at a time race against the clock.

It's an impalpable situation. The question that defies answering.

Why do the swallows always return to Capistrano? Perhaps the magnetism of Indianapolis is best found in tradition. The race is tradition. Qualifying is tradition. The activities taking place here for the month of May — the social events, the work, the buying, the spending — are all tradition.

Only here at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway do the hot dogs taste a special way. The grass on the infield golf course is just a little greener. The noise of the racing engines a little louder. The mud between the toes has a different feel.

The programs haven't changed; the garages in Gasoline Alley are the same color, the same guard is at the same gate, telling the same people that they have to have a little silver badge to go inside.

This is Indianapolis. Only here can you watch Indianapolis cars and Indianapolis drivers and Indianapolis speed. This is it. It's no place else. To be a part of it you have to be here, and unless you've made the journey you can never understand.

And no where else will a writer spend a dime for a wet newspaper, because to do otherwise would be to break the tradition.

Excitable individual. I'll say this though — Gene was a much better hitter. Hee was also an extraordinary competitor. Great as he was, I don't think he was any more so than Burt.

Hooton, called up by the Cubs from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League last Sept. 6, raised a few eyebrows nine days later when he struck out 15 Mets and didn't allow a hit for 6.2 innings. He wound up beating them, 3-2, on three hits and then shut them out on two hits six days later.

The player strike delayed this year's start but when the Cubs finally did open, blond, curly-haired Burt Hooton saw to it that he did in style when he hurled a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies on April 15. Hooton has added a pair of victories since.

"He didn't show much emotion over his no-hitter," says Ernie Banks, who has seen a few in his 18 years with the Cubs. "I think that's because he's an Aquarian. That means he's very calm and confident of his ability. He doesn't fight himself."

Ernie Banks also is an Aquarian, and he says astrology helps him "get a line on people." Steve Hamilton, the Cubs' reliever, doesn't go in much for astrology but he thinks the same way as Banks does when it comes to Hooton.

"He's wise beyond his years," Hamilton says of the Mississippi-born rookie. "Very unaffected. He stays at the same level all the time. That's usually a sign of inner confidence."

Burt Hooton certainly doesn't come on like any rookie with less than 90 days in the majors. He seems to have that professional veneer about him already and generally that doesn't come until at least a couple of years.

"You mean I'm not supposed to have it yet?" he asks without sounding smart-alecky. "I'm not trying to put it on, but if I had a choice I guess I'd like to look like a professional as soon as I could. In this business you've got to be one as quickly as you can. Once you get here, you should be pretty much grown up. I'm not saying I know it all by any means. But 'Wise beyond my years?' I don't know. I never noticed. I just try to be me."

Gene Bearden, who used to throw one of these knuckle curves, too, has only one piece of advice for young Burt Hooton.

Kid, don't change a thing!

Asks Federal Aid To Watch Horse Racing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Illinois state racing commission Thursday called for federal help in policing the nation's horse racing industry.

Alexander MacArthur told the House Select Committee on Crime the industry has become so mobile that states cannot effectively control it.

He suggested federal legislation that would prohibit the transmission of horse racing results across state lines for the purpose of paying off wagers, federal supervision of the registration of horses, and federal legislation to prohibit the "doctoring" of a horse for a race.

"I think we need federal help," he said, "it's been my observation that federal laws get a little more attention."

The racing commissioner told the committee, which finished its second week of a probe into alleged Mafia infiltration into professional sports, that he found almost all of the Illinois racing commission records missing when he took office in 1969.

"I haven't figured out yet where they went," he said. Asked if perhaps the FBI or some other government agency had subpoenaed them for use in a case involving former Gov. Otto Kerner and various other state officials, MacArthur said he had checked with several agencies and all denied they had subpoenaed the files.

Kerner was indicted last December on charges of bribery, conspiracy, tax evasion, perjury and mail fraud in connection with race track transactions while he was governor from 1961 to 1968.

MacArthur also touched on the 1970 Illinois Disclosure Act, which requires that owners of race tracks be revealed. He said he had not been able yet to track down the owners of 6,371 shares of stock held in the Maywood Park race track by the Egger Co. and the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York.

Committee counsel Joe Phillips said the committee had subpoenaed Chase Manhattan and learned the ownership of the stocks was in a numbered account of the Union Bank of Zurich, Switzerland.

MacArthur also said there was evidence that some jockeys were using illegal equipment in hopes of bringing home a winner in some horse races.

He said a groundskeeper at Hawthorne Race Course found an electric whip—similar to a cattle prod—on the race track after a collision between several horses last week.

Waverly Girls Rump: Waverly — The Waverly High school girls track team closed out its season with a 2-0 mark Thursday with an 8-23 dual victory over Girard.

Judge Orders Six Reporters To Testify

CHICAGO (AP) — A Circuit Court judge ordered six Chicago Tribune reporters Thursday to testify before a Cook County grand jury investigating whether fraudulent voting took place in the March 21 primary election.

The six reporters, who are under subpoena, served as official pollwatchers or judges of election during the primary.

In news stories they told of witnessing several cases of vote fraud and violations of the Illinois Election Code.

Judge Joseph A. Power, chief of the criminal division of Circuit Court, denied the Tribune's motion to quash the subpoenas and ordered the reporters to appear May 25 before the grand jury.

The judge said, "It is expected that the U.S. Supreme Court will enunciate guidelines for the trial court and the grand jury to follow relative to the method and manner of obtaining the presence of the news media and their reporters."

"Rather than endeavoring to anticipate such guidelines," the judge said, "this court suggests that prior to the issuance of subpoenas by the grand jury, that the state's attorney and the news media consult."

A lawyer for the Tribune argued that grand jury subpoenas are "worthless pieces of paper" because they were not issued in the proper manner.

The reporters subpoenaed are Gerald West, Brenda Stone, Judy Roberts, Luc Horton, Terri Schultz and Sally Wagner.

State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan applauded the judge's ruling and said in a statement that a reporter who may have observed criminal conduct has no special status because he is a reporter, but like any other citizen, has an obligation to answer a subpoena.

Hanrahan said he sought the voluntary cooperation of the reporters and invited them to testify before the grand jury.

"Unfortunately, that invitation was declined by their employer," he said.

Weinberger Says Controls Are Working Well

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon's wage-price controls are achieving their goals and "hopefully the program shortly can be dismantled," the new director of the Office of Management and Budget said Thursday.

Caspar W. Weinberger was elevated by the President this week from deputy director of the office to its head, succeeding George P. Shultz. Weinberger told the annual meeting of the Committee for Economic Development (CED) that "I am sure the administration is hopeful it will not have to extend controls when they come up for renewal April 30 next year."

CED is a national private, nonprofit organization of 300 businessmen and educators.

Weinberger said the President's economic package has been complicated by "the host of problems of expectations that inflation is going to continue... Breaking into that psychology is absolutely necessary."

Big Ten Race Is Now For Second Place

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Ten baseball race staggers to a close this weekend with three clubs — Detroit, Michigan and Northwestern — trying to nail down the runnerup spot behind already-crowned tilting Iowa.

Iowa's Hawkeyes last weekend concluded the season by running their league victory string to 11 for a final 13-3 record and their first conference crown since 1939.

Iowa thus will represent the Big Ten in the NCAA's District Four playoff for a berth in the College World Series at Omaha in June.

In concluding Big Ten action, Northwestern (9-5) is host in a pair of twin bills to Michigan State (7-3) on Friday and Michigan (7-3) on Saturday.

The two Michigan contenders, now deadlocked for second place, also visit Wisconsin (5-4) this weekend with Michigan appearing for a Friday double-header and Michigan State on hand for a Saturday pair.

Going into the last weekend, Northwestern shares fourth place with already-finished Minnesota, also owning a 9-5 mark.

The only other action sends last-place Indiana (2-11) to Ohio State (4-10) for a Saturday twin bill.

Still up for grabs is the Big Ten's individual batting title with third baseman Ed Grzela-kowski of Northwestern the current leader at .467. Trailing by 12 points is catcher Ron Pruitt of Michigan State with .455.

Another Northwestern player, second baseman John McCarthy, shares third place with Iowa outfielder Larry Schutius at .444.

Iowa's Bill Heckroth emerged the Big Ten's only undefeated hurler with 5-0. But his 1.00 ERA was not as good as the .092 by Mickey Elwood of Michigan (2-2) and the .093 by football star Brad VanPelt of Michigan State (3-1).

The reporters subpoenaed are Gerald West, Brenda Stone, Judy Roberts, Luc Horton, Terri Schultz and Sally Wagner.

In Thomas Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Billy Maxwell, one of the shortest hitters on the tour, slipped around the long, tough Colonial Country Club course in a three-under-par 69 and took a share of the first-round lead Thursday in the $175,000 Danny Thomas Memphis Open Golf Classic.

Maxwell, a 42-year-old veteran who hasn't won in the last decade while courses were getting longer and touring pros stronger, shared the top spot with Gibby Gilbert and Hubert Green.

The flamboyant Lee Trevino who started the incredible hot streak that won him athlete of the year honors in this tournament in 1971, was at 70, one stroke back, along with Charles Coody.

Arnold Palmer, back in action after a two week rest, rallied from a triple bogey seven and a lost wrist watch and came in at 71.

He was one of well over a dozen at one under par. Others at that figure included Dave Stockton, Deane Beman, Don January, and J.C. Snead.

The spanking new course, a hilly 7,195-yard par 73 layout with water on nine holes, played so tough in the gusty breezes that the tourists were giving up in droves.

Eight players, including Jack Nicklaus, withdrew before play started on the warm, sunny day. Six more, including Tom Weiskopf, pulled out during the course of the first round.

Maxwell, a grizzled little man standing only 5-foot-6 who won the United States amateur in 1961, missed only two fairways and bogeyed both holes.

But he hit his iron with crisp efficiency, chipped well and made the most of the so-called winter rules, which allow players to lift, clean and place the ball in the fairway.

He holed the back nine first and holed four of the last six holes. He ripped a four iron to within 18 inches of the flag after cutting over a dogleg on the 450 yard 12th hole, twice made six foot birdie putts and holed another from about 10 feet, back nine.

Palmer, wearing eye glasses, also started on the 10th tee. "And somewhere between there and the 12th hole my caddy lost my wristwatch—a $1,200 wrist watch. I don't know how it happened," he said.

And he promptly hit one out of bounds on the 12th, then missed the green and made a triple bogey seven.

"I got to thinking about that watch," he said.

He bogeyed the next hole but rallied and got back to par by the time he was playing the eighth hole—his 17th.

He hit an eight iron out of the rough there. The ball hit on the green and skipped into the huge gallery.

"It hit a boy who was trying to get out of the way and he accidentally kicked it back on the green. He didn't mean to," said Palmer, who called for a ruling.

The kicked ball ended up some two feet from the cup and Palmer made it for the birdie that put him under par and still in contention for the $25,000 first prize.

The Reds pounced on Giants' starter and loser Sam McDowell, 5-1 for three runs in the first inning. Consecutive singles by the first four men in the Cincinnati lineup, Pete Rose, Joe Morgan, John Bench, and Hal McRae produced two runs, and Julian Javier's bases-loaded bunt one out later added another.

After Chris Speier led off with a double to left off Reds starter Wayne Simpson and Tito Fuentes followed with a single to center that pushed Speier to third in the sixth, Bonds unloaded his fourth home run of the year.

But Cincinnati went in front to stay in the seventh when Morgan bunted up the first base line for a single, went to third on a single by Bench and both scored when McRae doubled off Giants reliever Jim Barr. The Reds added insurance in the eighth on Darrel Chaney's single and a triple by Dave Concepcion.

That run turned out to be the winner, for the Giants rallied to score once in the eighth, but couldn't manage more. The Reds added two in the ninth and pushed San Francisco to their seventh straight loss.

Riva Ridge Keeps After Triple Crown

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I like you, but I hope I keep on beating you," Lucien Laurin, trainer of Kentucky Derby winner Riva Ridge, told Homer Pardue, trainer of Derby runnerup No Le Haze Thursday as the two men entered their colts for Saturday's 97th running of the Preakness.

If Riva Ridge is to keep alive his bid to win the Triple Crown of the Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, he also will have to beat seven other 3-year-olds Saturday including his Meadow Stable mate, Upper Case, and Paul Mellon's Key To The Mint.

Joseph R. Straus' No Le Haze was given post No. 1 for the start. He will leave from the rail under jockey Phil Rubeo.

Upper Case will break from post No. 2 under Ray Broussard while Ron Turcott will take Riva Ridge out of the third slot. Braulio Beza will send Key To The Mint out of the fifth gate.

Others entered for the Preakness at Pimlico and their jockeys, in post position order beginning with No. 5 were William and Joseph Stavola's Freetex, Chuck Balkazar; John D. Marsh's Eager Exchange, Eddie Maple; Dr. Hassi Shina's Hassi's Image, James Moseley; Sally M. Gibson's Festive Mood, Carlos Jimenez, and William S. Farish III's Bee Bee Bee, Eldon Nelson.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds and if all nine go to the post at 5:40 p.m., EDT, the race will gross $189,800, with $127,300 to the winner.

The entry of Riva Ridge and Upper Case was made the early even-money favorite by the Pimlico odds-maker. Riva Ridge, the 1971 3-year-old champion, won seven races, five of them stakes, in nine starts last year, and was first in the Hibiscus, Blue Grass and Derby and fourth in the Everglades this year.

For Day Care Centers

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

The demand for centers is mounting as more mothers enter the nation's labor force. Today, more than 12 million mothers are either working or looking for work. Nearly five million of these have children

Head Nixon Trip To Moscow List

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will spend the great part of his stay in the Soviet Union in Moscow with only two official dinners on the present schedule, the White House said Wednesday.

The bulk of the schedule is being left free for meetings with Communist Party chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and other leaders.

The President and Mrs. Nixon will make one quick out-and-back side trip to Leningrad on May 27, returning to Moscow for more talks before going to Kiev May 29 for an overnight stay.

The Soviet leadership will entertain the Nixons at an official dinner on the evening of their arrival and Nixon will reciprocate on May 26.

Otherwise, the announced schedule for the Soviet stay is wide open at this point.

In response to a question, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would like to attend a performance of the Bolshoi Ballet in Moscow if time permits, "and has expressed an interest in seeing 'Swan Lake.' However, he said such an event has yet to be firmly scheduled.

The Nixons will embark on their 16,585-mile journey from the South Lawn of the White House at 9 a.m. EDT Saturday. After a ceremony there, they will fly to nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Maryland, where they will board the presidential jet, the Spirit of '76, for an eight-hour hop to Salzburg, Austria.

On Sunday, Nixon will meet with Austrian chancellor Bruno Kreisky.

The President and First Lady are scheduled to arrive in Moscow at 4 p.m., local time, at Vnukovo Airport.

St. Pachomius, an Egyptian, founded the first Christian monastery, according to the National Geographic Society.

Not Guilty

A jury comprised of seven women and five men returned a verdict of not guilty Thursday afternoon in the case of Michael L. VanHynning, 17, of 903 E. Lafayette Ave., who was charged with drag racing.

Foreman of the jury, William T. Deaton, handed the verdict to the court bailiff at about 2:25 p.m. after less than an hour of deliberation and less than 24 hours after the trial began. State's Attorney Richard Norris then recommended to presiding Judge Gordon Seator dismissal of the charges against Dale German, 19, of 1605 South East St., the other youth involved in the case.

Members of the jury were Lester DeLong, George Goodall, Roy Switzer, Elizabeth Krushas, Joan Newell, Eloise McKean, Betty Bonds, Clarence Gray, Ruth Ronat, Wilma Edwards, William T. Deaton and Helen Tempin.

Defense attorney William Schildman Thursday morning called five witnesses to the stand, the defendant, Michael VanHynning; Dale German, the other youth charged in the case; William Barfield, a passenger in the German auto; William VanHynning, brother of the defendant and passenger in the VanHynning auto; and Mrs. Jo Ann VanHynning, defendant's mother.

All four witnesses present during the incident testified that the top speed from acceleration did not exceed 40 miles per hour. Mrs. VanHynning said that during a conversation with Trooper Chapman a few days after the incident she asked him if the rate of speed involved was "60 or 70 miles per hour" and he reportedly replied that "it wasn't that high."

The morning court session adjourned for lunch at 11:50 a.m. following presentation of closing arguments by both at-

Young, 23, of the Elko Apartments, had earlier entered a plea of guilty and demanded a jury trial. The guilty plea was reached during negotiations between his attorney, Public Defender William Schildman and State's Attorney Richard Norris shortly before the jury selection process was scheduled to begin.

He was fined $200 plus $15 court costs and placed on probation for one year by Judge Seator.

The jurors were excused until Tuesday at 10 a.m.

MAC INVITES PUBLIC TO SHARE IN MANY WEEKEND EVENTS

The public is invited to share in numerous Commencement Weekend events this Friday and Saturday at MacMurray College.

BEARDSTOWN TO DECIDE MERGE OF CITY-COUNTY LAW

BEARDSTOWN — A decision is expected to be reached by the city council at a meeting in June on the matter of consolidation of police and sheriff activities in Cass county.

A number of persons attended the city council meeting Tuesday as the matter was discussed and more explanations were offered.

Virginia councilmen have reportedly rejected the plan while approval has been given in Ashland, Chandlerville and Arenzville, according to City Clerk Henry Dufemeier.

The proposal involves consolidation of all county law enforcement agencies.

Building permits sought from the city council include two for new homes. L. D. Knipmeyer is planning a brick residence, 80x32, at 11 Sunset Blvd., the cost approximately $32,000; and Ed Wedeking plans a dwelling at 310 W. 17th street, 26x50, costing approximately $20,000.

Dies Thursday

FIREMEN ANSWER 2 CALLS

City firemen Wednesday evening answered two calls which resulted in little or no damage.

The first report at 8:05 p.m. concerned a car fire on South Main at the Square. A 1960 model auto, owned by William Culp of 318 Anna, reportedly backfired, igniting the engine.

Estimated damage was $25. The second call came at 9:15 p.m. from the residence of Jerry Noble, 124 Hardin Ave. A lone fireman arrived at the Noble home with an exhaust fan.

In the process of popping some corn, the pan of grease caught on fire, filling the house with smoke. No damage was sustained.

POLLY $ FOR SCOTT READER

A Winchester reader recently received a Polly Dollar for the use of a pointer she sent to Polly Cramer, who writes the column Polly's Pointers, which appears daily in this newspaper.

Polly Cramer awards a dollar bill to each contributor whose Pointer, Problem or Peeve she uses in her column.

Mrs. William A. Rider's pointer appeared in Thursday's issue of the Courier and is appearing in Friday morning's Journal.

Mrs. William A. Rider's pointer is as follows:

"Like Mrs. E.S. I once left the plastic stays in my husband's shirt when it was laundered so I gently pressed the collar with a medium warm iron for about a minute and the stays straightened out with no trouble.—MRS. W.A.R."

Bill To Curb Handgun Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a Senate Judiciary subcommittee has cleared a bill to put new curbs on the sale of handguns. But what types of pistols will be covered is yet to be decided.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief sponsor of the bill, said the measure is aimed at halting the manufacture and sale of all concealable handguns, not designed for strictly sporting purposes.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, the subcommittee's ranking Republican member, said he favors the sale of handguns for any lawful purpose, including self-defense. He said the subcommittee action was taken with the understanding that he and Bayh would try to work out exactly what kind of weapons will be covered.

Under the 1968 gun control act passed after the assassination of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, imports of handguns are barred unless they are determined by the secretary of the Treasury to be suitable for lawful sporting purposes.

The criteria, such as barrel length, weight, caliber and safety devices, are established by Treasury regulations.

Bayh's bill would permit the secretary to retain responsibility for this criteria. But he said Hruska wants the standards spelled out by law.

Ringier church bells does nothing to appease thunderstorms. France outlawed the practice in 1786 after a 33-year period in which lightning killed 103 bellringers hopefully tugging rain-wet bellropes.

This spring New York City police had about 800 men investigating murders.

PERRY AIRMAN GETS DISCHARGE

MT. STERLING — Walter Suhling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Suhling, Jr., of Perry, Ill., returned home May 7 after receiving his discharge from active duty in the Armed Forces at Mather Air Force Base in Sacramento, Calif. He and his wife, the former Jennifer Tice, who resides in Mt. Sterling, will remain in Mt. Sterling, to make their home.

Britain's ocean greyhounds, was homebound on her first round trip of the summer season.

Cunard had long been plagued by hoax calls—"so many we've lost count," said police at Southampton, her home port. But at noon Thursday, British government authorities and police on both sides of the Atlantic decided to treat this one as serious.

Construction experts said that the liner contained literally hundreds of places where explosives could be concealed. And despite all inbuilt safety measures, no ship is unsinkable.

Cunard said the vessel's watertight doors were slammed shut by a signal from her bridge as soon as the bomb threat became known aboard.

This action cuts the ship into watertight compartments, minimizing the effect of any blast and reducing the danger of sinking.

But a company spokesman warned that any explosion near the liner's fuel oil supplies would risk disaster.

Norman Thompson, Cunard managing director here, spoke to the liner by radiotelephone just as the bomb disposal squad was hauled aboard from the Atlantic.

He said passengers had been told over the ship's intercom, of the bomb threat and had taken it calmly. Hundreds, he said, lined the rails to watch the spectacular parachute drop.

Once the men were aboard, they were taken to the bridge while the search of the ship continued. And the QE2 regained speed, heading for her first European call at Cherbourg at 30 knots, two knots faster than usual.

Even before the bomb threat was announced, Thompson said, medical staff had been quietly watching passengers for any sign of the cancer condition mentioned by the New York caller.

Thompson called newsmen into conference after the hour had passed for the expected second call on how to hand over the money.

There was no call. A newsman asked if he now suspected a hoax.

Thompson replied: "We expected a hoax from the beginning, but we didn't take chances."

To House Floor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The sponsor of a lottery bill in the legislature says the prospect of Illinois having a lottery which he said would add $100 million in revenue appears bright.

Rep. E.J. Giorgi, D-Rockford, watched the House Appropriation Committee approve Thursday his measure 11-6 moving the issue onto the floor of the House.

He said he is confident that the House will approve the bill and send it to the Senate. Despite Giorgi's optimism, one of the leading Democrats, Rep. Gerald Shea of Riverside, declared that it would be "a giant step for making our selves another Nevada."

The plan is fashioned after a New Jersey lottery which disperses 45 per cent of the take from prizes, another 45 per cent to the state and 10 per cent for administration. A $1.5 million appropriation would be needed to start the program.

Opponents to the bill have in past committee meetings said that it would "open the door to gambling" and may lead to the "moral decay of the citizenry."

The measure, Giorgi said, would bring $100 million into the state coffers with at least 30 per cent of the incoming revenue going to the financially strained common school fund.

Giorgi said that over the last 17 years the legislators have changed their minds about lotteries. He based his comment by changes he said he has observed in connection with legalizing bingo.

"In 1955 when I got here (to the legislature) 50 per cent were opposed to bingo," he said, "but last year it passed."

In other action, the Appropriations Committee approved an emergency money bill to fund the state's welfare program for this year. The appropriation has been approved by the Senate.

The measure was cut from $135 million to $129 million because of recommendations by the State Department of Public Aid. Edward T. Weaver, the department's director, said the decrease is because of a reduction in welfare needs for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Ogilvie in February asked for the emergency appropriation because of miscalculation last year on how much money would be needed to finance the state's welfare program this fiscal year.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As memories of the Great Depression of the 1930s fade, Americans seem to be shedding almost all fears and inhibitions about personal debt.

Once, it may be recalled, the goal of millions of families was to pay off the bills. Only then, they felt, could they relax. But in today's society it is entirely possible for a family to seek debt, to never be out of debt and to look forward to an entire life lived on credit. On graduating from college, in fact, thousands of young people are expected to pay off the loans their parents took out to finance their education.

Is this wrong? Financially? Morally? You'll receive differing views, but a widely held attitude is that the burden may look bigger than it really is. The chances are that the youngster will have job stability and constantly rising income, it is argued. In addition he will have many years in which to finance or even retire the debt.

The changed attitude toward borrowing is shown even more dramatically in housing. The very last source of funds for a Depression family was to remortgage the house. Today it is a commonplace practice.

A study by the Conference Board, a private research organization supported mainly by business, shows that new mortgage debt since 1959 has constantly exceeded the value of homes purchased.

This means, of course, that families are using their equity for other purposes, such as educational and medical expenses, investment in other assets, vacations, travel, debt consolidation.

In 1960, the Conference Board said, about $100 million was made available to families in this manner. By last year it had reached an annual rate of $24 billion.

Telephone Marketers Irritating Public

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—The American public has become increasingly annoyed because of the invasion of its privacy by telephone marketers, an expert in the business said today.

"If irresponsible and irritating practices aren't stopped, we'll be in danger of a hard crackdown by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and state agencies," said Murray Roman, head of Campaign Communications Institute of America, Inc., New York. Roman sounded that warning in a speech to a section of the American Management Association.

"There's no excuse for duplicate and triplicate calls to the same household just because a firm is too careless to screen its lists properly," he said. "It's worse to call people in Los Angeles at 5 o'clock in the morning because the telephone solicitor in New York has forgotten or doesn't know about the time differential."

Only a Couple of Abuses
Those are only a couple of many abuses developing since telephone marketing became a national business following the introduction of Wats line telephone service. For years telephone marketing was a local business, easy to control. This year there probably will be a lot of political campaigning by telephone as well as merchandise selling as the presidential races shape up.

If telephone solicitors are careless in appealing to voters they not only will cost their candidates votes, they may get him in trouble with the FCC. Roman said most irritating practices stem from ignorance and poorly trained callers and supervisors in telephone soliciting companies. He said the industry must police itself because official regulation is not likely.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks posted its sharpest gain in a month and a half as the stock market barreled ahead Thursday.

The blue-chip indicator climbed 10.08 to close at 951.23, its biggest rise since last April 5, when it gained 11.14. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange led declines by nearly 2 to 1.

Trading, which had been slow in recent sessions, was moderately active. Big Board volume rose to 17.37 million shares from 13.8 million shares Wednesday.

Analysts said optimism about the economy and President Nixon's planned trip to Moscow overshadowed concern about the Vietnam War, which had been a major source of investor uncertainty in recent sessions.

Gains ran through tobacco, building materials, drugs, mail order-retail, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, and glamour stocks. All other groups were mixed.

The most-active Big Board issue was Fannie Mae, off ½ at 24 ½ on a volume of 510,200 shares. A 278,200-share block of the issue—the largest of the session—traded at 22 ½.

Of the 1,755 issues traded on the Big Board, 947 advanced, and 481 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 89 issues and lows by 61.

Of the 1,205 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 553 advanced, and 376 declined. Volume on the Amex rose to 4.69 million shares from 3.96 million shares Wednesday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.53 to finish at 59.96. The American Stock exchange index rose .14 to close at 27.75.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.7 to 332.1. Industrials were up 4.5, rails were up 2, and utilities were off 3.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board declined to 135 from a revised total of 143 Wednesday.

On the Over-the-Counter market, the NASDAQ composite index closed up 1.06 at 130.82.

SOYBEAN FUTURES SCORE GAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans futures prices resumed their upward movement on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday and scored early gains of a cent or more.

The grains also had a firm tone and scored fractional increases over Wednesday's closes.

There appeared to be no major new basis for the market's general strength, except possibly that May contracts expire Friday.

Soybean oil and soybean meal also moved upward, oil by 3 to 8 points and meal around 10 to 35 points.

Feed broilers were a little higher in the May option but lost 10 to 17 points in deferred deliveries.

After about an hour, wheat was ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher, May 1.64½; corn was ¼ to ½ higher, May 1.23½; oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, May 71½ cents and soybeans were ¼ to 1½ higher, May 3.57½.

WEALTHY MEXICAN ESCAPES FROM ABDUCTORS

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ignacio Lizarraga, a wealthy resident of Mazatlan, escaped Wednesday from kidnappers who abducted him two days before. Lizarraga said he pushed the man guarding him, the guard dropped his gun and fled, and Lizarraga grabbed the gun and shot another guard as he fled.

He said he was kidnapped by six men and a woman in Mazatlan and taken to neighboring Nayarit state by car. The kidnappers made him sign a note demanding $240,000 in ransom, he said.

Fire Thursday Levels The Junction Cafe

Fire destroyed the Junction Cafe, located six miles west of Winchester at the junction of U.S. 36 and Ill. 100, Thursday night.

The fire was discovered by an unidentified man working across the highway from the restaurant. He saw flames shooting from the roof of the two-story frame building. Several customers and the cafe's operator, Julie Sexton, were unaware of the blaze until he warned them.

Ed Dawdy, assistant chief of the Winchester Volunteer Fire Department, said it appeared the fire started in the second floor apartment. It was not immediately determined whether the apartment was occupied.

The Winchester and Bluffs fire departments battled the blaze for about two hours to no avail. They did prevent damage to Ms. Sexton's mobile home located directly behind the cafe.

John E. Kelly, deputy fire marshal for Scott and Morgan counties was expected to investigate the fire scene today.

The restaurant had been extensively remodeled and new equipment installed to repair damage from a fire July 2 of last year. The cafe was reopened around March 1.

The fire last year started in the kitchen while the restaurant was closed. That fire caused extensive damage to the interior and destroyed the kitchen equipment. The cause of last year's fire was also unknown.

It was not known Thursday night whether the contents of the building was insured.

Phi Beta Kappa Dinner May 25 At I.C. Hall

The public is welcome to attend the 40th anniversary dinner of Epsilon chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, Illinois College, at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 25, in Baxter Dining Hall on the campus. Speaker will be Dr. Landrum Bolling, president of Earlham College, whose topic will be "World Responsibilities and the American Intellectuals."

Dr. Landrum Bolling

The 1972 initiation is a private ceremony for members only and will be held at 6 p.m. at Tanner Library. Initiates will be introduced at the public program.

Prior to his appointment as president of Earlham College in 1958, Dr. Bolling had divided most of his career between journalism and the teaching of political science. He had served on the faculties of Brown University, Beloit College, and Earlham. His journalistic experience ranges from the editorship of a small-town weekly to foreign correspondent.

In addition to his administrative responsibilities, President Bolling's interest and concern for world peace has resulted in numerous visits to the Middle East since the war of 1967 as chairman of an international Quaker working party attempting to communicate with a variety of representatives of both sides about the possibilities of a lasting Middle East peace.

As a reporter, he covered numerous assignments in Europe beginning in 1936. He was a war correspondent attached to Allied Force Headquarters in the Mediterranean during World War II. He has had various journalistic assignments in Berlin, Eastern Europe, Africa, and the Middle East.

He has served as president or chairman of numerous educational organizations, and currently is president of the Associated Colleges of Indiana. He also is chairman of the Richmond, Ind., Human Rights Commission.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by contacting the Alumni Office at Illinois College, 245-7126, ext. 240. Persons wishing to attend the program, but not the dinner may do so. The program will begin at approximately 8 p.m.

Marriage Age Battle Unsettled In State House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House fought a standoff battle Thursday on whether to let men marry at the age of 18 without consent of parents.

Sponsored by Rep. Lewis A. Caldwell, D-Chicago, the measure became the subject of furious parliamentary maneuvering and see-sawed for 20 minutes between passage and defeat. Finally, its proponents decided to postpone action in the hope of rounding up more votes.

Such a measure was approved by the General Assembly last session but was vetoed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. Since then, the Illinois Council On Youth and the State Commission On Children have come out in support of such legislation.

Opponents argued that approval of the bill would help 16-year-olds bring financial woes on themselves and a crushing load of work to divorce courts.

Rep. Carl T. Hunsicker, R-Pontiac, told the House that "everyone knows, except maybe some 18-year-old, that you can't live on love alone—even puppy love."

Republican Majority Leader Henry J. Hyde of Chicago said he had "never subscribed to the proposition that if you're old enough to fight you're old enough to vote."

"But if you're old enough to fight, you're old enough to get married," he added.

Rep. Leland Rayson, D-Tinley Park, however, blasted the current law allowing women but not men to marry at 18.

Illinois College Appoints New History Head

Appointment of Dr. Donald R. Tracey, 40, as William and Charlotte Gardner Professor of History and head of the department at Illinois College was announced today by President L. Vernon Caine. He comes to Illinois College from Temple University, where he has taught since 1965.

At Temple, Tracey has been assistant professor of history, assistant coordinator for freshman history courses with an enrollment of 1,200, advisor to history majors, and department chairman during the summer session. He previously has been a teaching assistant at the University of Maryland, and served for two years with U.S. Army Intelligence in Berlin.

He attended Lehigh University, and received the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Maryland. He won the Wesley M. Gewehr Award for a research paper in 1962. He did research in Germany and Great Britain under a Temple University grant in the summer of 1968.

Dr. Tracey is a member of numerous professional organizations, and is author of "Reform in the Early Weimar Republic: The Thuringian Example," accepted for the Journal of Modern History.

He is married, and the father of one child. He and his wife are members of the Episcopal Church.

Commenting on the appointment, President Caine said: "Dr. Tracey was selected from among a considerable number of excellent candidates for headship of our history department. We are convinced that he has the capacity to lead the department in the extraordinarily high tradition of his predecessors, Prof. Ernest G. Hindner and Prof. Joe Patterson Smith. The history department has for generations been one of the strongest areas of teaching at Illinois College, and we fully expect it to continue in that pattern in the years ahead."

The first inquest was into the death of Samuel Louis Smith, 13, of rural Franklin who died May 2, 1972, as a result of head and chest injuries sustained in a motorcycle-truck accident southwest of Franklin on a county road.

The jury ruled the death of Samuel L. Smith as accidental. The second inquest was held into the death of Clemence Henry Smith, 62, of Kewanee. Mr. Smith died at Passavant hospital April 23 about three hours after a head-on collision in Greene county, near Greenfield on Route 67.

Cause of death was listed as a fractured skull and chest injuries. Mr. Smith was a passenger in a car driven by his wife, Dorothy. Driver of the second auto, Miss Katherine E. Bogacki, 36, of St. Louis, was killed instantly in the collision. Smith's death was ruled accidental.

More State Aid For Dual Unit Districts Sought

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House approved legislation Thursday to furnish an additional $66 million in state aid to school districts in fiscal 1973.

Sponsored by Rep. W. D. Walsh, R-La Grange Park, the measure, which now goes to the Senate, makes sharp adjustments in the complex relationship between local real estate taxes and state aid to schools.

"The Supreme Court of California already has found that basing school aid on property taxes is discriminatory," Walsh told the House. "This bill would reduce that discrimination by $66 million in fiscal 1973."

With little debate, the measure was passed, 96-4.

The bill would decrease the real estate tax rate minimum levels at which dual school districts qualify for state aid. Dual districts embrace high schools or elementary schools but not both.

For elementary school districts with enrollments of less than 350 pupils the "qualifying rate" would drop from 90 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation to 87 cents. For those with 350 or more the rate would fall from 87 cents to 82 cents.

The rate would be set at 87 cents for high school districts with fewer than 700 students and 70 cents for districts with more than 700. It had been 90 cents for those with fewer than 350 students and 87 cents for those with more than 350.

For so-called unit districts, encompassing both elementary and high schools, the qualifying rate remains at $1.00 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

Qualifying rates have long been a topic of intense battling, with dual districts arguing they were not getting fair treatment from the legislature.

Killed At Meredosia

A 30-year old Springfield man was killed Thursday at the CIPS plant at Meredosia where he was engaged in dismantling a crane.

Alfred (Hank) McMasters, Jr., 30, of Springfield, route one, was crushed between the boom of a crane and the gantry. The Meredosia Volunteer Rescue Squad took McMasters to Passavant hospital. Cause of death was listed as crushing head injuries according to Coroner John B. Martin.

The construction accident happened about 11:35 a.m. Thursday. McMasters was working for the J.S. Alberici Construction Co. of St. Louis. He was a boiler maker by trade.

An inquest will be held later. The remains were removed to the Staab Funeral Home at Springfield where friends may call from 6 to 9 Friday evening. Funeral services will be at 2:30 a.m. Saturday at the St. Cabrini Catholic church in Springfield with burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

McMasters was born Oct. 5, 1941 at Springfield, son of Alfred H., Sr., and Arley Brockman McMasters. He never married.

McMasters, Sr., of Springfield, route one; seven sisters, Mrs. Arthur Kelley of Riverton, Mrs. Robert Wolf, Mrs. Wayne Muir, Mrs. Lynn Usher, all of Springfield, Jane, Milissa and Denise McMasters, all at home; three brothers, Larry, Charles and Edward, all of Springfield.

Election Day Liquor Ban Repealed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate removed Thursday the ban on sales of liquor during state, local and national elections, but permitted cities and counties to impose such local prohibitions.

The Senate unanimously approved an amendatory veto already cleared by the House. Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie must certify the legislation to make it effective July 1.

Taverns were required to close during the March 21 primary election which had candidacies ranging from the national through the state and county levels.

But April 4 balloting found liquor sellers torn between advice from the State Liquor Control Commission and some state's attorneys.

A commission spokesman said special circumstances about the election of county board members April 4 kept it out of the three categories, and put it in an unlisted area. Some state's attorneys disagreed and threatened prosecution of taverns staying open.

Two Injured In Auto Crash On Old State Rd.

Two men were injured, one of them seriously, in a two-car accident on the Old State Rd. Thursday about 1 mile west of Berlin.

Russell K. Schickendanz, 51, of 1332 S. Clay Ave., was listed in "satisfactory" condition Thursday night at Passavant Hospital where he was being treated for a broken ankle and head cuts.

Paul L. Blansett, 73, of Springfield, was listed in "serious" condition by a hospital spokesman there Thursday night. He was being treated for a broken shoulder.

Investigating Sangamon County Sheriff's deputies said Blansett, southbound on a county road about 5:10 p.m. drove onto the Old State Rd. where his auto was hit by the westbound Schickendanz car.

Blansett was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way. Both cars were demolished.

GREENE CO. YOUTH INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT THURSDAY

A White Hall youth was seriously injured early Thursday in a one car accident on the Hillview blacktop, one mile west of Rt. 267.

Ricky Kirschmer, 18, driver of the westbound auto, reportedly hit a pile of dirt in a construction area, lost control of the vehicle which overturned several times and landing in a ditch.

He was treated at the White Hall hospital immediately following the 2 a.m. accident and transferred to Passavant hospital.

A report Thursday evening from hospital authorities listed Kirschmer in "satisfactory condition," having responded to treatment. He still remains in the intensive care unit. He is to undergo surgery this morning.
